CANADA'S CREDIT ON LONDON MARKET

MANAGER OF LONDON
BANK ON CONDITIONS

Statement Which Ought to Relieve Minds of the Money
Magnates

London, Nov. 14.—"Is Canada Over-Borrowing?" was the subject matter of an address delivered to-day by E. Williams Taylor, London manager of the Bank of Montreal, before a large company last night at the Royal Colonial Institute. Lord Strathcona occupied the chair.

The speaker went far towards answering his question. Criticism, he said, levelled at Canadian borrowing, though not ill-natured, had been based on hasty conclusions and wrong premises. The popularity of Canadian loans was shown by the fact that secondary Canadian towns borrowed on a four per cent. basis, and were consequently the envy of cities twenty times their size in the United States. None viewed more regretfully than Canadian bankers certain Canada borrowings in the London market. Canadian federal and provincial governments, municipalities and transportation companies must continue to be financed here, and Canadian banks persistently declined to become the medium for speculative issues.

In ten years, continued Mr. Taylor, Canada has borrowed in London about $205,000,000, with $20,000,000 additional invested privately. The fact that Canada is more immune from invasion than any other country in the world, with the sole exception of the United States, was in itself a safeguard to the investor, and no other country could have financed itself on more favorable terms or with less strain to its credit. The financial condition and methods of the Canadian provinces contained nothing to justify adverse criticism. It was doubtful whether the real merit of Canadian provincial securities had ever been realized by the British investors. Their credit and financial responsibility had certainly never been questioned.

Public borrowings by small Canadian municipalities had doubtless aroused some unfavorable comment, conceded Mr. Taylor, but analysis showed that twenty-three out of the thirty million sterling devoted to this purpose were divided among such high class borrowers as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Quebec, Vancouver, Victoria and Hamilton, leaving just over seven millions among twenty other cities. The public flotation of these latter have been rapid and greatly advertised, the result being much exaggeration as to the real amount borrowed. He believed competition for Canadian business was keen, and consequently Canadian cities are subject to the close scrutiny of investors interested in the Canadian market.

Turning to railway securities Mr. Taylor said: These revealed but a small percentage which could be classed as doubtful, for the three great transcontinental lines accounted for nearly ninety per cent. of the aggregate Canadian railway borrowings. The ease with which they had financed themselves showed the confidence in them.

Regarding miscellaneous securities, Mr. Taylor said there were some unwise Canadian financiers whose lack of knowledge of the London market was monumental. They were perhaps desirous of adopting a straight course, but were unable to do so through ignorance. There were also allied with them many unsound Englishmen.

Regarding land speculation, he thought that speculators, who included many members of the aristocracy, had bought Canadian land both wisely and unwisely. If Canadians had shown readiness to profit at the expense of these gentlemen anxious to get rich quick, the result was not to be wondered at. A most serious setback in realty values would not in itself materially disturb the general financial stability of the Dominion, thanks to the far-sighted provision of the banking act of Canada, precluding Canadian banks lending money on the security of real estate investments.

COST OF LIVING INCREASES.
Report of Department of Labor Shows
Rise in Prices.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—After indicating a slight decrease in the cost of living for a couple of months, the price report of the labor department for October, issued to-day, again indicates an upward tendency in prices. The increased standing at 123.1, as compared with 122.5 in September, and 123.5 in October, 1911, is due to declines in wheat, oats, hay, cattle, sheep, mutton, lard, linseed oil, hops and malt are up by advances in milk, eggs, hog, hams, lemons, tomatoes, fute, lead, and their products, coke, earthenware and rope. The increased cost is a percentage of the average level during the years of 1909-10. The feature of the month in prices was the widespread movement in the price of coal from Nova Scotia. The price of coal in that province was upward, while elsewhere it was lower.

DOUKHOBORS ARE DEFIANT

REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE THE LAW OF CANADA

Encouraged in Attitude by Action of British Columbia Government

Grand Forks, B. C., Nov. 14.—The Doukhobors of this district, who for several months have been defying the government at every opportunity, have now secured the upper hand and are violating the laws of British Columbia, while local authorities are powerless to prosecute.

Two Doukhobors, one serving a sentence of eight days for contempt of court and the other charged with a criminal offence, were brought before Magistrate Cochran yesterday, and discharged by authority received by wire from the department of the attorney-general to the effect that the prosecution of Doukhobors is to be discontinued during the report of the commission of investigation.

The Doukhobors have lately been fighting the authorities with muteness, and even when the magistrate asked the interpreter to inform a Doukhobor that he was being given his freedom, the interpreter persisted in his tactics of defiance.

Evidence that the information has reached the Doukhobor colony is apparent, however, in a jubilant conversation now going on among the members of the society on their property near this city, marking the triumph of the Doukhobors over the provincial authorities. Even the provincial constable of this district was subject to insolence by the Doukhobors when they became aware of their immunity from prosecution.

Citizens of Grand Forks express indignation against the humiliation under the action of the government in tying the hands of the local officials. A conference of business men resulted in a wire being dispatched to the government demanding an explanation, and the reply will be dealt with at a meeting called for Thursday. It is understood that evidence was about to be presented in one of the actions dismissed which would have incriminated no less than four of the heads of the Doukhobor colony, including Peter Verigin, the chief. By the action of the government a great deal of work in bringing about recognition by the Doukhobors of Canadian laws has been undone, and any future attempts by local authorities to restrain the Doukhobors in the defence of the criminal law is bound to create greater friction than ever before.

FAVORS OUR SYSTEM OF TEACHING IN SCHOOLS

Australian Professes to Be Impressed by His Investigations in This Country

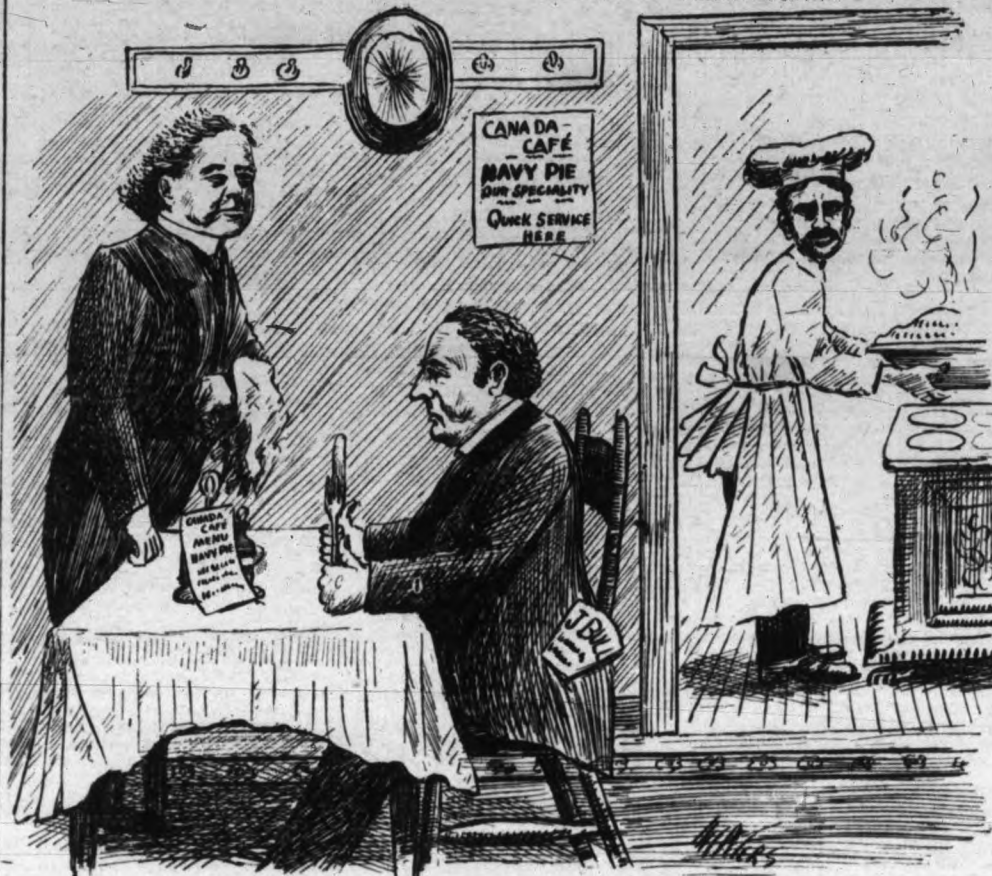

Melbourne, Nov. 14.—Strongly in favor of adopting the Canadian system of preparing teachers for the public schools, Prof. Adamson, of Wesley College, Melbourne, returned to this city to-day after an extended tour around the world. The professor has been abroad for some eight months, and has studied educational conditions very closely. In an interview to-day the professor commends the Canadian educational methods, and urges the adoption of the Canadian plan of sending teachers abroad. He says that such a system might be advantageously followed in Australia.

RAILWAY OFFICERS ELECTED.

Seattle, Nov. 14.—W. E. Stavert, of Montreal, was elected president and general manager of the Alaska Northern Railway to succeed O. G. Larabee, resigned, at the annual meeting of the company held here yesterday. Other officers were re-elected as follows: Vice-president J. C. Williams, Spokane; treasurer, F. G. Jemmett, Toronto; secretary, James A. Haight, Seattle; directors, Col. A. Swantz, Alameda; A. H. Wheatley and L. W. White, Seattle. The Alaska Northern is now in operation for 75 miles from Seward on Cook Inlet to Ketchikan, which is only seventy miles from the Matanuska coal fields.

HAVOC BY GALE.

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 14.—A house was blown over, railroad traffic has been crippled and all small streams are over their banks as the result of the storm which ended here last night in a gale such as the harbor has seldom seen. Rail communication on the Northern Pacific from here to Seattle is by way of Centralia instead of Olympia, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound-Oregon-Washington joint line has been covered by slides in several places. Electric light wires and telephone cables also went down. The fire alarm signal service was burnt out and part of the city was in darkness.

THE NAVAL QUESTION—WAITER AND "WAITEE."

GOOD CITIZEN GONE TO HIS REWARD

DEATH OF PETER LYALL
LEADING MONTREAL MAN

One of the Most Prominent Contractors in the Dominion of Canada

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Peter Lyall, one of Montreal's leading captains of industry, and head of the great contracting firm of Peter Lyall & Sons, died here early to-day. He was born in Caithness, Scotland, in 1842, and on coming to Canada engaged immediately in the building trade under his cousin, Peter Nicholson. He founded the present firm in 1875, and has since directed the erection of most of Montreal's important buildings, as well as having done contracting work in Toronto and Ottawa and throughout the West. Most of the railway offices, hospitals and beautiful residences of this city were erected by his firm. He was at the time of his death engaged in the erection of millions of dollars worth of property in Western Canada, including Winnipeg's new station.

Mr. Lyall was a strong Liberal, a member of the Montreal Reform Club. In 1900 he ran against H. B. Ames in St. Antoine division, Montreal, when the latter defeated him. He was once a member of the Montreal city council and up to the time of his death was vice-president of the Montreal Citizens' Association.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS' STRIFE.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor breathed a sigh of relief when they gathered for the session to-day and realized that the fight of 22 years' standing between the International Association of Steam and Hot Water Fitters and the United Association of Plumbers and Gas Fitters had at last been settled. The convention late yesterday decided no such organization as the International Association existed in the eyes of the Federation.

BOY ELECTROCUTED.

Castle Rock, Wash., Nov. 14.—While at the switchboard of a telephone company in this city, Roy Fowler, a 16-year-old son of C. L. Fowler, was electrocuted, due to the fact that during a high wind last night one of the telephone wires crossed an electric light wire carrying a voltage of 1,100. He was alone in the office at the time and when the clerk arrived to open the drug store, where the station is situated, he found the boy dead on the floor.

HYDROPLANE'S FLIGHT.

Waverly, Mo., Nov. 14.—Tony Janus, who is attempting to fly from Omaha to New Orleans in a hydroplane, after resting here overnight, continued his flight from the Missouri river to-day, starting from here at 8:30 o'clock. Twenty minutes after leaving here Janus was reported passing over Miami, 2

WAR DESCRIBED AS SIMPLY BUTCHERY

Bulgarians Accused of Committing Atrocities on Turks —Incidents of Campaign

Berlin, Nov. 14.—Insinuations that the Bulgarians have been guilty of atrocities against the Turks and that the present war is more of a butchery than orderly warfare are made by the correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung.

Telegraphing from Semlin, Hungary, on the opposite side of the river from Belgrade, the correspondent declared he had been reliably informed that the Bulgarian troops mutilated the bodies of the Turkish soldiers after the battle of Kirk-Kilisheh, and carried Turks' heads about on the points of their bayonets. He continued: "Barbarism is fighting barbarism, and century-old hate is fighting century-old oppression."

Unconfirmed Report.

Belgrade, Nov. 14.—A report that the Turkish fort at Adrianople has fallen before the attack of the Bulgarian and Serbian allies is current here but without any confirmation in official circles.

Roumanians Drowned.

Bucharest, Roumania, Nov. 14.—Forty-four Roumanian soldiers were drowned yesterday while crossing Calarasi lake on the way from one military station to another. The boat capsized.

Cholera Spreading.

New York, Nov. 14.—Oscar S. Straus, former ambassador to Turkey, received the following Constantinople cablegram to-day from Ambassador Rockhill: "There are now over 14,000 sick and wounded soldiers here. Cholera seems to be increasing fast. Much sickness and destitution among the many thousand refugees."

THE READY REVOLVER.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—James J. Hyland, an insurance agent, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night when he attempted to enter his neighbor's house, mistaking it in the darkness for his own. The neighbor, Wallace Cocks, was awakened by a woman roomer, who told him that a man was trying to break in, and seeing a man forcing the back door, Cocks fired with a revolver. He then called the police, who established Hyland's identity. Hyland absconded Cocks from blame for the shooting.

MINISTER TO JAPAN.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Lars Anderson, of Washington, now minister to Belgium, has been named as ambassador to Japan to succeed Charles Page Bryan, whose resignation was announced a few days ago. Through the Japanese embassy it was learned to-day that Mr. Anderson would be satisfactory to the Japanese government.

McMANIGAL ACCUSES RYAN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Direct charges that Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, had full knowledge of explosions and that he even advised the dynamiters to disguise themselves, were made by Orrie E. McManigal in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial to-day.

THE HIGH COST OF FOODSTUFFS

TORONTO PROFESSOR
HITS NAIL ON HEAD

Protective Tax is at Bottom of Conditions Which Prevail
To-day

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Professor M. A. MacKenzie, chairman of the special committee appointed by the board of trade of Toronto to investigate the high cost of living, presented the committee's report to-day.

Among the causes assigned for the growing cost of necessities are the great increase in gold production, the enormous expenditures on preparations for war, the migration to the cities, the duties on foodstuffs, which enable dealers to corner the domestic supply, the apparent elimination of competition in many lines, the multiplicity of retail stores, the poor shipping facilities for produce coming into Toronto, the absence of adequate markets here, and the prevailing high rent for stores and houses.

Speaking of the tax on foodstuffs, the report says: "This tax was intended to protect the Canadian farmer in times of Canadian scarcity and to be inoperative in times of Canadian plenty, but the development of the packing and canning industry, coupled with the growth of the cold-storage facilities, has made it possible to-day for a group of men to entirely control the prices at which our farmers must sell certain products—nearly all the possible buyers being in the group—and also to maintain prices at which the consumer must buy the same products up to the level of the foreign prices plus freight, plus duty."

CHECK ON FURIOUS DRIVING.

Chilliwack Council Adopts an Ingenious Plan.

Chilliwack, B. C., Nov. 14.—To stop automobile speeding through the city of Chilliwack, the city council has put into effect a device as novel as it is effective. This consists of a system of raised concrete crossings, constructed sufficiently high above the roadbed to fast the occupants of a low-wheeled, fast-driven automobile a severe shock. The approach to them is such that a horse-driven vehicle can cross at a moderate speed without discomfort to passengers. Some that have already been put in have proved so effective that the construction of many others in various parts of the city was authorized at the last meeting of the council. In addition to their use as a speed-checker, the crossings are much appreciated by residents as protection from muddy streets.

WRECKS IN WATERS OF EASTERN EUROPE

Two Hundred Lives Reported
Lost When One Vessel
Foundered

London, Nov. 14.—Several sailing vessels from various ports of the coast were wrecked in a great storm Wednesday night, a dispatch from Constantinople to the Chronicle says. One vessel foundered off Hadar Pazar, Asia Minor, with a loss of over 200 lives, and the few survivors tell pitiable stories of hardships suffered before the wreck. The vessel was greatly overcrowded. Many died of hunger and their bodies were thrown overboard.

SCHOONER ASHORE.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 14.—The schooner New Home, Captain Wilson, of Barrington, N. S., from Montague, P. E. I., with produce, went ashore on the western reef of Thrum Cape, at the entrance of Halifax harbor, shortly after midnight. The crew had a three-mile row through the heavy surf to land. The captain blames a new compass for the wreck.

TEAMSTERS ON STRIKE.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The possibility of a strike of the 60,000 teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers composing the local teamsters' union, developed to-day when 3,000 members of the local union No. 705 went on strike because of a wage disagreement.

U. S. TREASURER RESIGNS.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Announcement of the resignation of Lee McCung as treasurer of the United States was made by President Taft to-day. It is believed Carmie Thompson, now private secretary to the president, will succeed him.

OFF TO ENGLAND.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Sir James Whitney, accompanied by Hon. R. A. Fyfe, left this afternoon for England. Sir James denies that it is an official visit and says it is merely a holiday.

TURKEY ADMITS SHE IS BEATEN

APPEALS TO BULGARIA
FOR AN ARMISTICE

Powers Will Support Request
—The Situation as It is at Present Time

London, Nov. 14.—With the Turkish armies beaten in every battle during the month's war and now behind the fortifications at Tchatalja, defending the capital of the Empire, the Ottoman government has appealed to Bulgaria for an armistice pending the opening of negotiations for peace, according to an official dispatch received from Constantinople to-day.

While terms, if any, the Turks have proposed have not been disclosed. They must, however, in the opinion of diplomats, be unlimited if they are to prove acceptable to Bulgaria. With the last defenses of Constantinople almost in her hands, Bulgaria is unlikely to consent to any armistice except on conditions giving her full military advantage.

Turkey will have the support of the European powers in her request for a cessation of hostilities. The representatives of the various nations at Sofia have now received full instructions regarding the proposal of mediation, and they held a meeting at noon to-day to discuss the method to be adopted for taking the communication of the Turkish request to the Bulgarian government.

The armistice asked for by Turkey will affect only the fighting at Tchatalja fortifications, while the step the European powers have taken has the object of putting an end to the war in all parts of the Balkan peninsula.

Until the powers succeed in influencing the allies in the direction of peace the fighting at Adrianople, Monastir, Scutari and in other portions of Turkey's vast European domain will continue, no matter how Bulgaria regards the appeal made by Kiamil Pasha.

While, therefore, Turkey's recognition of the realities has smoothed the path of diplomacy, and may result in Constantinople, the Dardanelles and perhaps some other parts of her European possessions being left to her, and prevent a scramble for them by the powers, there still are some serious questions to be dealt with. Among these are, notably, those of the position of Albania and of the Serbian ambition to have a port on the Adriatic sea. The Albanians are taking steps to make their country independent, and besides publishing a proclamation have issued a protest against any attempt to interfere with the freedom and integrity of the country. Charges are made that the Serbians have secretly murdered all the Albanian prisoners of war.

As to the Adriatic, which, according to a report from Alessio to-day, the Serbians have not yet reached, there is no official change either in the Austro-Italian or the Serbian attitude.

A dispatch from Alessio confirms the previous reports that the Montenegrin army advancing on that town has suffered a reverse. The Montenegrins were unable to take the town owing to the Mirdite tribesmen joining forces with the Turks. The Montenegrins were driven back as far as the Boyana river.

Confirmed.

London, Nov. 14.—Official confirmation that Kiamil Pasha has addressed King Ferdinand of Bulgaria directly, asking for the conclusion of an armistice pending the negotiations of peace preliminaries, was received here from Constantinople this morning.

FUNERAL OF PREMIER.

General Tribute to Worth of Murdered Statesman.

Madrid, Nov. 13.—The body of the Spanish premier, Senor Jose Canalejas, was entombed in the Spanish Pantheon this afternoon with the highest national honors. The entire nation is mourning and all civil affairs and business was suspended in Madrid until after the ceremonies.

King Alfonso, accompanied by Prince Charles of Bourbon-Styria and Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria, infants of Spain, followed from the chamber of deputies to the Pantheon, while 250,000 persons stood with uncovered heads in tribute to the dead premier.

The members of the diplomatic corps and an official from every department of the government attended the funeral.

The press, of all shades of opinion, condemns the assassin and lauds Senor Canalejas as the finest type of Spaniard who, in addition to being a great statesman, had devoted himself to the amelioration of the condition of the poor.

King's Acknowledgment.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The White House made public to-day the following message from King Alfonso of Spain to President Taft: "Deeply touched for your kind message of condolence at the great loss we have sustained by the abominable assassination of our prime minister. I beg you to accept yourself and to convey to the government and American people the expression of my most sincere gratitude for your sympathy in this sad circumstance."

NATIONALISTS IN THE CABINET

UNENVIABLE POSITION OF PREMIER BORDEN

Armand Laverne's Expose of Method Under Which Cabinet Was Formed

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—The joke of the ante-parliament campaign has been Mr. Armand Laverne's challenge to Hon. Mr. Pelletier to explain why he has betrayed the Nationalist cause for the flesh-pots of office, and the postmaster-general's very prudent refusal to do any such thing. That, however, did not prevent the young Nationalist leader from saying a few things at Indian Lorette which put the Nationalist wing of the cabinet in a most invidious position, and one which must have surprised the good Tories of Ontario by showing them the manner in which Premier Borden was prepared to capitulate in wholesale fashion to the Nationalists, and was dictated to by them in forming his coalition cabinet.

Mr. Laverne said that when Mr. Monk was appointed minister of public works he (Laverne) had been invited to join the coalition, but refused on obvious grounds, which the recent cabinet crisis with Mr. Monk's resignation have amply justified. But when refusing office for himself young Mr. Laverne, with Mr. Monk, dictated to the premier who the other two Quebec ministers should be, even overshadowing the influence of Sir Rodolphe Forget so as to keep Mr. T. Chase Casgrain out. And when Mr. Pelletier was notified of his appointment he asked Mr. Monk if any guarantee had been given of a plebiscite on the navy question. Apparently he got enough answer to permit him to accept office, but not enough to keep Mr. Monk in. But what is even of greater significance is the light Mr. Laverne's declarations throw on the price Mr. Borden was prepared to pay for power. What does Canada think of Mr. Borden's patriotism in offering Mr. Armand Laverne a cabinet portfolio because of his opposition to any help for Britain? What will the people of England think? As the truth is becoming better known, the people of the old land and the new are getting the true measure of Mr. Borden.

To all this Hon. Mr. Pelletier replies that he regrets the stand Mr. Laverne has taken. No one would doubt the truth of this statement. Then without approaching the real gravamen of Mr. Laverne's charge the postmaster-general once more side-steps the issue by declaring that Canada is part of the British Empire and that Laverne and Bourassa are now opposing the government out of pique because they could not dictate to the Conservative party. He omits to mention that Laverne and Bourassa still stick to the policy which gave himself and Mr. Nantel cabinet seats and compelled Hon. Mr. Monk to resign his. The more the postmaster-general attempts to excuse himself the deeper in the mire he gets.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS IN CITY OF WINNIPEG

Question Did Not Come Up at Last Meeting of the School Board

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Nothing was said with regard to Hon. G. R. Coldwell's proposal that the Winnipeg school board shall take over the Catholic schools of the city at the regular monthly meeting of the board last night, although it is the last that will take place before the election. It was expected that the ministerial association would be represented, but the question did not come up in any way, and it was said by members of the board that no one appears to be actively interested in it. No official communication of any kind respecting the matter has been received by the trustees. It was said by one trustee that Hon. Mr. Coldwell's suggestion that the board should take over the Catholic schools had been made quite informally, and had not been supplemented by any official notification, nor had the Catholics been heard from.

INCREASED POWERS FOR MUNICIPALITIES

Recommendations of B. C.
Union Now Sitting in City of Vancouver

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—In the course of a long session yesterday, the executive of the British Columbia Union of Municipalities made out a considerable list of recommendations to be submitted to the municipal government commission, which will sit in the court house to-day.

Chief among the proposals is one providing for the classification of cities and districts. The idea, as sketched by the executive, is that cities of over 20,000 population should be placed in the first class; those between 10,000 and 20,000 in the second class, and those under 10,000 in the third class. Other municipalities would be provided for under special sections for rural municipalities.

It was suggested that Vancouver might surrender its charter and join as a city of the first class.

The commission will also be asked to recommend that all persons holding one hundred dollars worth of property shall have the right to vote in elections and for by-laws. This is in accordance with the interpretation which the attorney-general placed on the act, but there is a feeling that the point is not made clear enough.

Another recommendation will be that municipalities be given power to own and operate telephone systems, even in adjacent districts, provided the consent of the district affected or of the provincial government be obtained. The right of municipalities to operate swimming baths will also be asked for.

Other recommendations which the executive decided upon were: Provision in the act for counting and recounting of tendered ballots in cases where persons actually entitled to vote have been personated at the polls; provision for recounting in all municipal elections; that the commission go into the whole question of tax sale legislation, and also set a time limit within which persons may seek to set aside tax sales; provision for a clearer definition of wild lands.

TWO YEARS; TEN LASHES.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—Two years in prison with ten lashes was the stern sentence meted out by Judge McInnes in the county criminal court yesterday afternoon to Thomas Conley, a city laborer, who had been found guilty of enticing a ten-year-old girl into his cabin on Pender-street East. The sentence is the maximum allowed by the law for that offence, said his honor in finding Conley guilty. Conley, who is an elderly man, gave his evidence in a trembling manner. He pleaded that he was innocent of the charge, and had merely taken the child on his knee. He was surprised by Mrs. Macgowan, a lady who had observed the accused crouch the child into his cabin. She had immediately forced her way in to the child's rescue, afterwards sending for the police and giving Conley in charge.

KAMLOOPS MURDER CASE.

Kamloops, Nov. 13.—The preliminary trial of Rex Fleak and Claude Love, charged with the murder of Charles Acheson, will be held to-day. The Wilson brothers, Henry and William, of this city, will also receive a hearing on the charge of being accomplices. Much interest has been aroused over the case, especially on account of the fact that Fleak is well-connected in Hamilton, Ont., his former home, where he had borne an excellent reputation. His people are said to be prominent there. Mayor Robinson received a telegram yesterday from Mayor Lees, of Hamilton, asking that counsel be secured for the defendant Fleak. The Wilsons have retained A. D. McIntyre in their behalf and it is probable also that he will be retained by Love and Fleak.

CONVICT ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

CHARGED WITH KILLING PENITENTIARY GUARD

Evidence of Warden—Case
Will Probably Take Considerable Time of Court

New Westminster, Nov. 14.—The trial began yesterday of Joseph Smith, the convict at the provincial penitentiary here who is accused of having shot and killed Guard John H. Joyson during an attempt to escape from the prison on October 5. Wilson, another convict, was concerned with Smith in the shooting, but he has since died.

At the opening of the trial Mr. J. R. Grant, crown counsel, said the crown would attempt to prove that Smith fired the shot which killed Joyson. Evidence will be brought forward to show that Smith was armed with a 32-calibre Colt revolver and Wilson with a rifle. It will be shown, Mr. Grant said, that both fired at the guard. Mr. W. F. Hansford, who is conducting the defence, entered a plea of not guilty for Smith. Mr. George A. Doxater is foreman of the jury, which was chosen after twenty challenges had been made and the panel almost completely exhausted.

Warden J. C. Brown, of the prison, was the only witness called during the morning session. He proved Smith was in lawful custody at the time of the shooting, having been sentenced by Magistrate Shaw at Vancouver on March 8 last to ten years in prison. Warden Brown was not present at the shooting, but he told briefly what he knew of the affair. In the cross-examination Mr. Hansford showed him in a measure what line of defence he intended to take. In his questioning he endeavored to make it plain that proper precautions were not taken at the prison. It had been shown at the preliminary hearing that the revolver carried by Guard Craig, who was in charge of Smith and Wilson and several other prisoners in the stone yard, was not loaded. This, Warden Brown declared, was a direct infringement of the prison rules. It was also shown that Craig, contrary to instructions, either had no whistle or did not use it when attacked. Instead, he ran for help.

It was shown that after Smith and Wilson had overpowered Craig they ran to the gateway, where Guard Round was in charge, surprised him, took his gun away and forced him at the point of a revolver to march ahead of them to the wall. Mr. Brown stated that it was the general rule for guards to follow prisoners, not to precede them, and the position of Guard Round should have attracted the attention of the guards on the wall.

The crown, it is stated, will bring two convicts into court to give evidence. At 2 p. m. the members of the jury were taken out to the penitentiary to the scene of the shooting. Some evidence was taken there before their return. The case gives promise of lasting for a considerable time.

RESTITUTION MADE.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 13.—In the adjourned trial of E. P. Howard and C. T. Henshall on the charge of falsely and fraudulently obtaining $250 in cash and $2,500 in promissory notes from Jones Pascoe, representing this to be payment for 50,000 shares of an issue of 200,000 underwriters' shares in the Segur Oil Refineries, Limited, Vancouver, W. B. Willoughby, on behalf of the prosecutor, asked leave to withdraw the charge, as restitution had been made to the fullest possible extent. The magistrate left the matter over for consideration later in the day.

AMBASSADOR RESIGNS.

Announcement of His Successor's Appointment.

London, Nov. 13.—The resignation of James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, and the appointment of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice as his successor, are officially announced to-day. The foreign office, in announcing the change, says Mr. Bryce some time ago intimated his wish to retire, but prolonged his stay at Washington at the request of the British government.

BULGARIANS OFF TO WAR.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—In one week 2,590 Bulgarians have passed through Montreal on their way to fight for their native land. They come from all parts of Canada and already the large corporations in and around Montreal say that the labor shortage question, which is already an acute one, is becoming positively alarming.

EMPIRE TRADE WORK.

London, Nov. 13.—The overseas dominion royal commission, having heard several witnesses favorable to a British Empire trademark, are now receiving evidence showing the opinion of manufacturers on the subject, which is by no means unanimous. Several influential witnesses declare that an Empire trademark would simply mean an additional temptation to foreigners to place spurious trademarks on their goods and would also put all classes of goods on a common level.

STRIKE OF THE C. P. R. EMPLOYEES

MINISTER OF LABOR PROVES INCAPACITY

Either That or He is Dominated by Corporation Influences

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—As a result of the persistent refusal of the minister of labor to appoint an industrial board to consider the difficulties between the C. P. R. and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees a strike has taken place. It is not yet known how far this strike will extend, but it is claimed by President Mosher, of the Brotherhood, that it will involve from three to five thousand members, and result in great loss to them, to the railway, and to the business interests of the country.

Just why the minister of labor refused to appoint an industrial board and undertook to carry on negotiations single-handed does not appear on the surface. Possibly the control of the interests and the close alliance between the C. P. R. and the Conservative party may have had something to do with it. However, that may be, the minister's policy seems to have been dictated by the company, and his action was highly arbitrary. The C. P. R. refused to deal with the union; the minister refused to grant the board. But Hon. Mr. Crothers claims to have secured ameliorations in working conditions which would satisfy the employees. This in the face of an ultimatum given by the Union Brotherhood that unless they secured a satisfactory adjustment of their demands for a board to consider them by 10 o'clock on a certain date they would strike. The minister has disclosed incapacity to realize the gravity of a situation or has arbitrarily refused to give to the workingmen the benefit of the means of redress which parliament intended they should have, and the strike order was issued sharp on time. Through his refusal to allow the labor legislation, carefully devised and successfully to be put into operation, Mr. Crothers has precipitated a strike which may have serious results. Mr. Crothers' arbitrary action in siding with the company, and refusing the men a board is in striking contrast to the practice of his predecessor in office, Hon. MacKenzie King, who, when corporations objected, and there were grounds for believing that a strike would take place, never failed to establish a board of investigation, and to himself name a representative for the company where the company refused.

The excuse given by Hon. Mr. Crothers for his inaction was that the demands of the Brotherhood included employees under some thirty-six different headings, and that no one board could deal with these. This is little more than a confession of inability to deal with a situation because it presents some difficulties. Other boards have dealt with just as complicated railway disputes successfully in the past, and that without entering into the details of each sub-division of labor, but by establishing broad rules which were successfully worked out afterwards. The present government appears not only unable to enact useful legislation, but incapable of applying that which it inherited from the Laurier regime.

MALAY STATES' OFFER OF NAVAL ASSISTANCE

Colonial Secretary Expresses Deep Appreciation of the Proposed Gift

London, Nov. 12.—Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt, colonial secretary, has accepted with deep gratitude on behalf of the United Kingdom the generous offer of a first-class armored cruiser by the Federated Malay states. The states offer payment within five years if possible. The only criticism outside of hearty appreciation consists of expressing regret that the small dependencies should feel themselves drawn into the burden of armament, especially as the "if possible" clause inserted by the Federated Malay states shows that there may be difficulty in raising the cash. The Malay states are not even crown colonies, but four states under British protection, the present constitution dating from 1874.

AGAINST LABOR BUREAU.

Mayor of Vancouver Not in Favor of Such an Institution.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—There was not a dissenting voice at the meeting of the board of works yesterday when Mayor Findlay reported against the establishment of a civic employment bureau this winter. The mayor gave it to be understood that it would be useless for people to come into the city during the winter with the expectation that the municipal authorities would look after them. All the city proposed to do was to provide work for the deserving poor of Vancouver itself, and the selection of those to be cared for, the mayor believed, would be much better in the hands of such bodies as the Central mission and the Salvation Army than in the hands of the city. Those institutions looked carefully into the character and needs of those they recommended for employment, which was something the city was quite unable to do.

AN ASIATIC COLONY OR PETTY KINGDOM

To Be the Fate of British Columbia, According to M. Bertilland

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Henry Bourassa and Armand Lavergne and other Nationalists who dream of and advocate a French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence have found a new ally in Henri Bertilland, the great French controversialist. For the past month this resident of Old France has been studying conditions in Canada, and has come to the conclusion that the French and the English will never assimilate, and that the logical outcome will be the establishment of a French republic in Quebec and the assimilation of the west of Canada by the United States. M. Bertilland believes that French Canada is to become ultimately an independent French republic.

"The statesman who brought the fabric of your Dominion," said the "Sidney Brookes of France" "are worthy of high praise for their constructive policy, but their handiwork was foredoomed to destruction by warring forces far more potent than could be endured by the artificial bulwarks of government. I have gone into this matter thoroughly. I have conversed with representatives of every class in your conglomerate population. After all this, the only opinion I can offer candidly is that your dreams of a united Dominion, let alone a united Empire, are merely folly. What has the habitant of the St. Lawrence valley in common with the fishermen of the Fraser? Nothing. In fact it would be difficult to imagine two types more essentially different in creed, race and point of view.

"Furthermore, there can be no reconciling the conflicting interests of this great country. Your western farmer clamors for reciprocal trade with the United States, and he will not sacrifice permanently his material prosperity on account of a policy of social protection fostered by Canadian vested interests. British Columbia's Imperialism is the hugbear of Nationalistic Quebec. What in the one case means self-preservation, in the other signifies taxation without representation.

"This viewpoint is novel, I admit," continued M. Bertilland, "but I look merely at facts, tendencies and analogies. This great country will work out its destiny through a process of economic and political evolution. Many years may elapse before your political responsibilities are disillusioned, but the hour of destiny is certain. French Canada will be a great republic, including not only the two and a half million of its people, but also the two millions of co-religionists and co-linguists in the United States. The middle western provinces will become states of the American Union, and British Columbia will evolve from a stage of dependency upon British naval protection to be either an Asiatic colony or a petty independent kingdom."

Mr. Bertilland will write a series of articles for Parisian papers on his so-called findings of conditions in Canada.

FLOODED FARM LANDS.

C. P. R. Appealing Against Decision of Mr. Justice Morrison.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—Taking up all the afternoon session yesterday of the court of appeals, the case of the C. P. R. was heard in their appeal against the ruling of Mr. Justice Morrison and a special jury, at Golden, B. C. In that case Alfred Anderson received damages amounting to $700, interest and costs, and P. Lund $400, interest and costs, for the flooding of their farm lands, due to the installation of a culvert on the right-of-way of the railroad, which diverted the course of Hospital Creek. In the original case the claim of Anderson was for damages fixed at $6,500, and that of Lund for $5,920. Besides giving judgment for the plaintiffs, whose actions were consolidated, the jury ordered that the C. P. R. build a bigger culvert at the point. At the time of the first ruling there was another claim for damages by John Anderson, but the claim was thrown out at the time. The claim of the C. P. R. is that the culvert is not responsible for the flooding of the farm lands in question, and that the stream, taking its regular course, would not necessarily flow to where the culvert was built. For the company, Sir Charles Tupper, K. C., is conducting the case, for the respondents, Mr. W. B. A. Ritchie, K. C.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Discussed at Meeting of Vancouver Board of Trade.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—Civic government by commission was discussed from every angle last evening at the meeting of the board of trade following the presentation of a recommendation from the civic committee, which approved of the application of the city to the provincial government for the reduction of the size of the municipal council from a mayor and sixteen aldermen to a mayor and four aldermen, appointed or elected under what is known as a commission form of government. The recommendation was brought forward to afford a definite expression concerning the proposed change to go from the board to the municipal commissioners, who held a meeting this morning. After a discussion, resulting unfavorably to the project, the resolution was referred back to the committee.

FEDERATION NOT WORKING SMOOTHLY

Conflict Between State and Federal Authority in Australian Commonwealth

Melbourne, Nov. 13.—The Liberal Association of the Commonwealth have announced their determination to fight against the Labor government's proposals to be given power to deal with industrial trouble. The Liberals argue that these proposals would mean the granting of undue powers to the federal legislature.

Perhaps the most noteworthy feature in the opposition is the decision of the New South Wales State Labor government to oppose the federal House's proposals.

Generally speaking, his testimony was a repetition of his remarkable narrative at the Becker trial.

EFFERVESCENT EMERGENCY.

Within two weeks the parliament of Canada should be enlightened as to the character of the proposals by which the government of Hon. R. L. Borden intends to meet the political crisis which confronts it. The evolution of events has been singularly unfortunate for Mr. Borden since he began the attempt to stampede Canada into a contribution to the British government in order that an emergency allegedly amounting almost to a crisis in the fate of the empire might be met and calamity averted. Had Mr. Borden announced while in England or immediately on his return to Canada that information of which he had become possessed warranted the immediate summoning of parliament to authorize an emergency contribution, some importance might have attached to the announcement. The Canadian public would have been in that frame of mind which would have made another stampede comparatively easy. Instead of summoning parliament in pursuance of an announcement in the Montreal Star that "we are to have an emergency parliament to deal with an emergency," Mr. Borden adopted a characteristically vacillating course. He did not know whether to call parliament in November or wait until January, and as soon as November was decided upon his chief colleague tendered his resignation and retired from the government. The emergency was shown to be not the emergency of Great Britain, but the perilous position of the Borden government. The gas had gone out of the liquid. The emergent aeration effervesced and the emergency theory went "flat." No one is imbibing emergency beverages now. They are all stale, every brand of them.

In order that something might be found to supplant the emergency, the organs of the Borden government began to prate inordinately about the debt which Canada owes to the Mother Country for past protection. There could be no doubt about it, Canada had been living off the bounty of Britain too long, and it was time she made some return as a demonstration of her gratitude for past favors. A sum of money, an enormous sum, must be voted by parliament without reference to the people in order to remove the stigma of base ingratitude from our fair Dominion. And all this within a year after every Tory organ in Canada and Great Britain had hysterically proclaimed the ultra-loyalty of the Canadian people as demonstrated by the election of a Tory government. Flag waving cannot be effective again, because it is only a year since we wrapped ourselves in the flag and swore to perish within its folds.

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill has said in the House of Commons that the British naval programme is too far ahead of Germany to be overtaken. He has declared that the relations between the two empires are the most cordial. In fact he said a week ago they were never so satisfactory as at present, and this immediately following the Balkan crisis and the imminent possibility of international upheaval in Europe. German and British authorities who are in the know declare a German peril to be a fiction of the lurid imagination of the jingoists, and there you are. What is Mr. Borden to do? His organs are full of advice. The Toronto World says:

"We believe this matter should be dealt with in a manly, common sense way without emotionalism. The British Empire would probably get along if Canada ceased to exist, but that is no reason why Canada should not pay her shot. Canada, as part of the British Empire, should contribute to the common defence without pressure whatever she would have to contribute, were she incorporated into any other empire. It is a plain matter of self-respect, and duty about which there should be no serious disagreement. Some supporters of the government are a trifle inclined to be hysterical and hysterics may be resorted to by the opposition. Let us keep free of hysterics."

"Let the navy issue be dealt with as any other question is dealt with, without timidity and without excitement. There will be little turmoil in Canada over an expenditure of thirty million dollars for defence. Even those who may think the amount a large one, will remember that we spent nearly ten times that amount building a railway between Moncton and Winnipeg."

This is getting down to cases, and the appeal to keep free from hysterics is in admirable season. After the panic is over and has proved a fizzle, after the Tory organs utterly fail to frenzy the people of Canada, we are advised to keep cool and collected, and do business in a business-like manner. Candidly, we think that is just what Canada proposes to do, and we think also that a trifling amplification of the Laurier naval policy is about all the country needs to meet the exigencies of the Dominion, the exigencies of Great Britain and of Empire and perform to the full measure of our obligation the part Canada should honorably play in the defence of the Empire. With the exigencies and emergencies of Mr. Borden's political party we have very little concern.

THE GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM.

The half yearly meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railway afforded the chairman, Mr. Alfred W. Smithers, an opportunity to pay a deserved tribute to the work of the late Charles M. Hays. The references to the achievements of Mr. Hays were cordial, appreciative and sincere. Through the instrumentality of Mr. Hays some $16,000,000 had been raised in Great Britain and expended on the system in Canada and in those sections of the road in the United States served by the Grand Trunk. There had been at the time of the death of Mr. Hays an increase of $20,000,000 in the value of the property over the capital outlay referred to above. Multiplied earning powers consequent upon the enlarged outlay have been made possible. The improvements in the equipment and the increased rolling stock have enabled the road to earn $10,000,000 more than a few years ago and the net earnings have corresponded more closely with the gross earnings than ever before.

That the forceful example of Mr. Hays has not been lost on his successor and those associated with him is proved by the issue of an order for 1,000 new locomotives, 5,000 new cars and 2,000 cars for the Grand Trunk Western road which connects the Canadian with the Chicago system of the line.

To those who know the history of the Grand Trunk in Canada this renaissance must be gratifying. The Montreal Gazette, comparing the conditions of to-day with those of former years, says:

"The Grand Trunk railway has had in some ways an unfortunate history. It was built, like many other roads on this continent, in advance of the business development of the country it serves. Its management for a long while, for some cause or other, failed to see or act on the lines that promised greater success. The fact that so great a proportion of its capital was owned by its shareholders, while only a comparatively small proportion had been raised by bond issues, saved it from the bankruptcy that overtook so many American railways projected or constructed at the time when it was new. Because of the courage of these shareholders in raising new capital in the face of many untoward circumstances it has been raised in standard till only a few American roads equal it. The result has been satisfactory so far as service to the trade of the country and new capital investments are concerned. The growth of the country's trade and the recent success of the management gives some hope that in time the owners of the older capital may get a recompense."

THE TRUE PROGRESSIVES.

The choice of name by the party headed by Col. Theodore Roosevelt in the United States was a fine stroke of strategy. It emanated from the conviction that the Republican party had become fossilized and that, under the control of the corporations and trusts, it managed the business of the nation without regard to the interests of the common people. Since the accession of President McKinley the government of the United States has been in the hands of masterful people. They have been men controlling gigantic and strong combinations of wealth, and these in turn, through the employment afforded to multitudes, have controlled large sections of the electorate. They secured the election to congress of men who proved to be little more than tools and congress was manipulated with cynical disregard of the interests of the nation as a whole. The system evidently wrecked itself, for during the last four or five years the people of the United States seem to have been strengthened in their conviction that the only way to destroy the system of public plunder was to destroy the Republican party. Roosevelt was the first to see this, or at least the first to initiate the movement which for a time gave promise of rehabilitating the Republican party in public confidence. He originated the Progressive party, intending it to be the rejuvenation of Republicanism. He promised and threatened all sorts of happy and dire consequences if his party should triumph, but his panacea was offered too late. Neither Taft nor Roosevelt, nor, in fact, any candidate tarred with the Republican brush, could have won the election this year.

Governor-Elect Wilson is the true progressive and he has the chance of a lifetime; the chance to write Ichabod on the walls of the Republican strongholds; the chance to inaugurate a new era in the political and domestic economy of the United States. Though it is not yet admitted that the president-elect has a majority of the electoral vote, he has an overwhelming majority of the electoral college, and with wise administration during his first term he can establish the low tariff party firmly in the confidence of the people and demonstrate that protective tariffs are the basis of all monopolies, and that trusts and commercial combines are their legitimate offspring. Personally strong and with vigorous executive ability, Woodrow Wilson has shown in his incumbency of the governorship of his state those qualities which equip him for the larger responsibility, and his experience in the lesser field has prepared him to seize the opportunities of the greater. Without attempting to reconstruct the national life by building on the sand or without attempting to destroy the deadly Upas tree sapping the prosperity of the common people by lopping off its branches, he has set his seal to the purpose of securing equal rights for all and special privileges for none. This is the truest Democracy, and it is the truest progressive policy.

It is somewhat disconcerting to find Canada governed—at a time when the United States has so completely eliminated the policy of high protection from its national ideals—by a party elected to power to continue and magnify the evils against which the American people have so successfully revolted. In the United States nothing could divert the electorate at large from the resolution to lower tariff walls. Every side issue, no matter of how much importance, was lost sight of in the onslaught on the tariff system which establishes privilege to the cost of the people. There can be no doubt that a similar alignment and marshalling of the intelligence and patriotism of the Canadian people will bring about the same results in the Dominion. The election of Wilson must have a tremendous reaction upon the trade policy of Canada.

Now it is the Malay states, probably fired by the example of Canada, that are going to give a warship to Great Britain in acknowledgment of past favors and to insure the defence of empire. One cannot help wondering which of the Big Chiefs it is in this dependency who is in a quandary. We may now confidently look to Newfoundland to follow suit. Afterward will come the West Indies, and last of all perhaps British Guiana. And at the present rate of progress every one of these will have settled upon a naval policy before Canada fixes the ownership and control of the warships which Hon. R. L. Borden intends to build.

Recently one heard of a wonderful discovery, a method of making cheaply artificial milk. Then came news of a Belgian scientist has found a means of manufacturing artificial meat. The ingredients are said to be the residue of various substances of small value, "such as malt waste from the brewery." This is enough to make every total abstainer turn vegetarian.

A Splendid Showing of Womens Winter Coats Ranging from $12.50 to $65.00 Including Many New Models

TUESDAY AFTERNOON was a busy time in the Mantle Department. A large shipment of new Coats arrived, and to mark them off and give them a place on the racks, together with our usual business made this department unusually busy. Some samples are now to be seen in the View street windows, and all women who are interested in the latest dictations from Dame Fashion will find it a pleasure to make their choice from this wide and well assorted lot.

The Johnny Coat is 46 inches long and is a general favorite at the present time. It comes in black and white checks, Scotch plaids and mixtures, the finest Worumbo chinchilla cloths, and diagonal cloths.

One very effective line in Johnny coats comes in a black and white check with green broadcloth collar, cuffs and buckle. It has a double breasted effect, the collar is the military style, fancy buttons, and the back is the new Prince George plaited and belted style.

Another fine style is what is known as "The Buckingham." It is 56 inches long and is a heavy winter utility coat. It has wide lap seams, three-piece belt, and the latest shaped, buttoned-up storm collar. It is to be had in various materials and colors.

Many other styles are to be seen and you will agree that the prices are most reasonable for such stylish and serviceable garments.

AT A GREAT SACRIFICE IN PRICE, FRIDAY—MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

THIS is one result of the transportation troubles that we have had to contend with during the past few months. When a shipment is "held up" and arrives at a time when it is most unwelcome, we are willing to let the goods go at an unusually small price to effect a speedy clearance. This gives you the opportunity to buy high grade Flowers and Foliage, suitable for millinery or decorative purposes, also wings, etc., in a variety of beautiful colors, at a price that will more than please you.

See the window displays of these goods. That's the best way to judge their value, and you'll admit that the flowers at 25c a bunch, and the wings at 50c each, are the best bargains you have seen for a long time.

Men Can Buy a $15 Raincoat for $10—Friday

A SAVING of just one-third in price should be an inducement that should make the thirty-five coats that are to be sold, move out in a hurry on Friday morning. Especially so when we tell you that these coats are the famous "Progress brand" which means that they are tailored and trimmed just as good as it is possible for the most skillful tailors in Canada to make them. They are 54 inches long, loose fitting, have two-way collars and come in sizes 35 to 42. These coats have a tweed finish that is very attractive and dressy, and the color is medium shades of greys. Regular $15.00, for ..... $10.00

FOR YOUR BOYS

$3.75 SUITS FOR $2.50 TWEED TROUSERS AT 65c Friday

HERE are two bargains that should be of remarkable interest to most parents. In the first place the garments are as strongly made as it is possible to have them—they have a finish that will prove them to be better garments than you would suppose could be sold at the prices, and then the reductions should add an inducement strong enough to move twice the quantity of goods in one day.

FIFTY SUITS, WORTH $3.75, FOR $2.50

Double breasted and Norfolk are the styles, and good strong tweed in a variety of colors is the material from which they are made. Some have bloomer pants and others have the plain knee trousers, and the sizes range from 23 to 33.

SEVENTY-FIVE PAIRS OF BOYS' PANTS, WORTH FROM 75c TO $1.00, TO CLEAR AT, EACH, 65c

These are all plain knee pants and are to be had in sizes from 31 to 34 only. The small assortment of sizes is the cause of the reduction in price, but those who can use them get a splendid bargain. Various colors to choose from.

A Special Sale of Canaries and Other Birds

OVER 200 TO CHOOSE FROM

MANY of our customers have been asking us when we were going to have another sale of canary birds and this has come at an opportune time to purchase one as a gift for your friends. At this season, canaries are in fine condition and in full song. Judging by the music that is to be heard in the hardware department to-day, this lot are doing full justice to the reputation of their kind.

Our prices are small, while the values are better than ever. No fear of being disappointed. If any bird, purchased at this sale, is not what we represent it to be, bring it back within three days in the original wooden cage, also the purchase slip and we will exchange it without extra cost.

Men's Tweed Suits With Much to Recommend Them Are To Be Sold at $10—Friday

WE have an odd line of forty-two suits, that we have marked down to $10 each for rapid selling, and one glance at the samples now being shown in the View street windows will be sufficient to convince any man that the suits were never made to sell at such a low figure. Anyhow, here they are, all ready for you to make your choice, and there's no doubt that men who know good values will not be long in making their choice. There are double and single breasted styles to choose from and all sizes from 32 to 44. An inspection will prove them to be well fitting and carefully made garments, worthy of a much higher price. Marked to clear at ..... $10.00

HARTZ MOUNTAIN CANARIES, in good condition and good singers, at ..... $1.95
ANDREASBURG MOUNTAIN ROLLERS, trained singers, having sweet flute, water and bell notes. Day and night singers, $3.90 each up to ..... $7.00
AUSTRALIAN LOVE BIRDS at, per pair ..... $6.50
JAPANESE FINCHES, with beautiful plumage at, each ..... $2.50

Sale of Work.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church will hold their annual sale of work in the class rooms of the temporary building, corner Yates and Quadra streets on Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 26. Articles of fancy work, candy, plants and home-made dainties will be on sale. Afternoon tea will be served, and Mother Goose will be present.

Donation of Pictures.—Hon. Dr. Young has accepted a gift of three pictures for the new art gallery which is to be established in connection with the provincial museum in the new wing of the parliament buildings, these being presented by Herbert P. Eldridge, who exhibited them at the recent exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Club. These are a pastel, "View on the Gorge at Sunset," and two oil paintings.

Scottish Concert.—On November 28 in the Victoria Theatre, Robert Morrison will give his third annual Scottish concert, when natives of the land of heather and lovers of Scottish music will have another musical feast which promises to eclipse that of last year.

Those who attended his last concert will remember the high-class programme presented, and every effort is being made to keep up to the standard thus established. Full particulars will be given later.

Sale of Work.—The Mission Circle of the Metropolitan church will hold a sale of work next Friday afternoon, Mrs. Jenkins having kindly consented to open the proceedings at 3 o'clock. In view of approaching Christmas the sale should be particularly welcome, as it will afford many an opportunity of commencing their collection of presents. The sale will include tables of fancy and useful articles, home-made candy and light refreshments will be served throughout the afternoon. Miss Walker's class will conduct an ice-cream and cake booth, and the Women's Educational Club, which subscribes to the furnishings of Columbia College, will have a table of samples, and, provided there is anything left to continue the sale, the hall will be open during the evening. The proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the fund for the support of a fresh air child at the summer cottage.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, November 14, 1887.

Mr. William Dalby, J. P., occupied a seat on the bench with his honor, Edwin Johnson, Q. C., S. M., in the police court this morning. Two Indians were fined for drunkenness and a Chinese imprisoned for stealing a coat from J. J. Crane.

Capt. Tatlow, of Vancouver, is in the city looking hale and hearty. He is a rustler, and is reported to be gathering, in substantial form, considerable of Vancouver's mud.

Mr. Thomas Innes, an old and well known pioneer, was stricken with paralysis to-day. He is a prominent member of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian societies.

Mr. J. Bryden, of the Wellington Collieries, will put on a shift of extra men so as to ensure an output from the mine of 1,000 tons daily.

To the Ratepayers: "Ladies and Gentlemen, I beg to offer myself as a candidate for the position of chief engineer of the Victoria fire department at the forthcoming election. Yours respectfully, Thomas Deasy. (Advt.)

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Dr. Schroeder declares that the disease from which the crown prince is suffering is cancer. He proposes to perform the dangerous operation of tracheotomy and completely extirpate the cancer. Dr. Mackenzie is against this course of treatment and thinks the prince may succumb under it. Bearing himself in the bravest manner the prince has finally decided to submit to the operation.

Building Permits.—Building permits have been granted J. Brown, for a ten-roomed house on Glasgow street, costing $2,500, and to G. W. McIntosh, for a six-roomed house on Amphion street, costing $2,500, and a garage at the rear of Work street.

S. P. C. A. Meet To-night.—The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will hold a meeting in the city hall at eight o'clock this evening at 8 p. m. Ernest McGaffey, secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League, will deliver a short address on the work of the society, and will include in his remarks the question of the education of the young towards a higher degree of kindness for the dumb beasts against maltreatment.

Cause of the Frost.—Owing to an area of high pressure centred over Vancouver Island, to clear skies and consequent intense radiation, the temperature did a steep descent yesterday and fell below freezing point. Similar conditions prevailed to-day and the prospects for the near future denote fair weather during the day with cold at night. The only rain which fell on the Pacific coast this morning was experienced in southern California. In the prairies, the weather is particularly fine and comparatively mild, while the exceptionally cold spell which gripped the Yukon at the beginning of this week has broken up and conditions there are infinitely more favorable than before.

Welsh Society.—The Victoria Cymrodorion Society will hold its monthly meeting to-night in the Foresters' Hall, Broad street, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Jenkins, the president, will occupy the chair. The ladies will serve refreshments at the conclusion of the programme. A full attendance of members and friends is requested as a very enjoyable time is anticipated. The following are some of those expected to take part in the programme: Misses Violet Hardy, Gladys Steinmiz and Miss Thomas, Mrs. J. Williams, Messrs. D. E. Hughes, J. Dilworth, Harry Morgan, Hugh Williams, H. Hollins and Mr. Bevan.

WILL APPOINT NURSE.

Dr. Wasson Points Out That Advice in Schools Must Be Supplemented in Home.

Recognizing that the time has come when the schools of Victoria require assistance in the medical inspection, so that the officers of the board may see their recommendations carried out in the homes, Dr. Wasson secured the adoption last evening of a motion to appoint a nurse.

This woman will be named at the next meeting of the board, to take office in January, and her duties will be to advise mothers on the health of children, and the correction of physical defects discovered during the customary medical examination. The immediate reason for urging this appointment was the fact that children in various stages of infectious disease have been attending some of the schools and spreading contagion.

The medical inspector pointed out that the city school board spends much less on medical inspection than Prince Rupert, Vancouver, South Vancouver, New Westminster or Nelson, and relative to population, less than any part of the province.

Yes, Everything From a Jew's Harp to the Finest $1000 Concert Grand Piano

We have taken Old Father Time by the forelock, and here we are, all prepared for Christmas. Now, if we can only convince you, reader, that you can save money and find far more satisfaction in choosing your gifts now instead of waiting until the last moment, we know that this is going to be a merrier, more delightful

Christmas for all of us. To enable you to choose from our present wide selection and yet husband your finances, we are prepared to take a small deposit now and hold anything you select until you want it delivered to you. Don't wait another week. You can do far better by selecting now. Come in to-day.

Tone Beauty That Lasts

That is what you get with every Gerhard Heintzman Piano, and that is what counts. A lady came to us recently to buy a cheap second-hand piano "for the children." We learned that these children were musical, had marked ability, in fact, and by appealing to the lady's good judgment we were able to convince her that only a piano with the best and truest tone should be given such children. Perhaps your children are musical. Then be honest with them. Give them a piano that will not injure their natural talents. Give them a Gerhard Heintzman Piano, Canada's best piano. It costs no more than inferior pianos, and it is far and away the superior of all other Canadian makes. Its tone is singularly rich and of great endurance. "Practice" will not destroy it. It becomes ampler and more sympathetic with use. By all means investigate the Gerhard Heintzman Piano before you buy.

Perhaps You Have a Violinist

In your home, a youthful master who needs only the proper training, the right opportunity to develop. The violin ranks as one of the greatest mediums of musical expression. Mature proficiency in the art of calling forth that expression demands youthful education. Why not see the extraordinary values we are offering in the best makes of violins just now? Think it over seriously.

Almost All Stringed Instruments

Are desirable when well played. The man or woman who can play well on a Mandolin, Guitar, Autoharp or Banjo receives a special welcome to almost all social gatherings, and has the entrée to circles that are closed to those who have no entertaining ability. You have a special gift for some instrument. Did you ever try to find out what instrument? Now is the time to own the stringed instrument you most desire. We have a remarkable stock on hand, remarkable for its excellence of quality, for the number of world-famous makers represented, and for the splendid values we are offering. Come in and look around.

Sheet and Book Music

Of every conceivable character is now arranged in handy files in our sheet music department. All of the latest popular song hits are represented, besides every one of the best standard selections. There is also a handsome display of novelties and necessities, such as racks and music rolls and cases. Values here again are very attractive.

MODEL 69T FULLY EQUIPPED

It only proves the ability of this most powerful and efficient automobile factory. Here we can but call your attention to the bare facts. This is the car—a big powerful, beautiful, spacious, comfortable, selfstarting, thirty horse-power, five-passenger touring car—fully equipped—all ready for day or night, rain or shine service. Made of the best materials on the market, by the most skilled men known to the trade, and in the most efficient automobile shops in America. And the price is but $1,500.

This is the automobile industry's record value. Come in and see this car of extraordinary value—take a ride in it and be convinced. We can show it to you to-day.

This car, at this price, smashes all previous records. It even totally eclipses 1912 Overland values, which a year ago baffled the world. 40,000 Overlands will be made in 1913. This enormous jump in production makes possible this new car at this new price. As the production goes up, prices come down, as has been shown each preceding year. In this age of rapid progress it is so difficult to grasp the full significance of an important, progressive manufacturing step, such as this car exemplifies. But when you sum up the extraordinary, cold dollar-for-dollar value which this car offers, as compared to any and all competing motor car values, the giant economical manufacturing strength of the huge Overland plants is realized and recognized.

SERIES OF STORMS ON VOYAGE SOUTH

PRINCE ALBERT STEAMS THREE KNOTS AN HOUR

Weather Off Cape Mudge Very Severe—Wind Blew at Terrific Clip

Some extremely fierce weather was encountered by the G. T. P. steamer Prince Albert, Capt. Donald, which came into port this morning, during her run south from Prince Rupert. During the entire passage the wind blew from the southeast, and there was no let up. Although winds of this nature are bad enough for a mariner to combat in the narrow channels, to make matters worse a heavy sea was running, and sleet and rain fell almost continually, making it impossible to see any distance.

Running out from Prince Rupert into Chatham Sound the Prince Albert met a southeast hurricane. The sea was lashed into turbulent rage by the high wind, and the steamer labored heavily. Although she was running light, great seas fopped over onto her deck, and everything moveable was washed about. As the waves broke the wind caught great sheets of water, and carried them high in the air. Heavy sleet showers were also met.

Down Grenville Channel and out into Milbank Sound the southeaster continued to blow without any signs of abatement. In Milbank a great sea swept in from the Pacific, and the Albert had to fight against the fierce weather at reduced speed. Crossing Queen Charlotte Sound the weather was also very severe, the wind blowing at a terrific clip, but the sea was not heavy.

Worst Part of Trip. The officers of the Albert say that the worst part of the trip was experienced after the steamer had passed into the landlocked waters. When passing Cape Mudge the wind, which had an unbroken sweep right up the Gulf of Georgia, caught the steamer. A high sea had been stirred up, and from that point south to Union Bay she averaged only three knots an hour, her regular speed being 12 knots. The log of the Albert says: "Cape Mudge to Union Bay confused sea. Ship pitching and laboring heavily. Continuous rain." The Albert strained badly when driving against the storm at full speed, and she had to be eased down to three knots.

The Prince Albert brought south some fish from the canneries. She had 100 cases for Victoria. The steamer loaded about 50 tons of cargo here, and then proceeded to Vancouver on another trip to Prince Rupert.

WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP TO BE LAUNCHED NEXT MARCH

It has been provisionally arranged that the new Cunard steamer Aquitania, which will be the largest, or one of the two largest vessels in the world, shall be launched on the Clyde, next March. How the dimensions compare with those of the Hamburg-American liner Imperator, which was launched last May at Hamburg, is not yet authoritatively known, but it is understood that the difference is not very great. Each will be over 50,000 tons gross.

The Aquitania will be completed within about 10 months after the launch, and is expected to go down the river from Clydebank in February, 1914, by which time the navigable channel in the lower reaches will have been widened and deepened by the Clyde light house trust, so that the vessel may be taken safely to sea. In order to carry out the necessary operations, a powerful dredge is being built for the trustees at Port Glasgow, which will be delivered about the middle of the year. The Aquitania is launched, and will be set to work immediately at the points where the navigation of the waterway is most difficult. In anticipation of the launch, the Clyde navigation trustees are improving the channel within their jurisdiction further up the river.

There seems to be still some doubt regarding the methods which will be adopted ultimately in order to reduce the rolling of the vessel. At first bilge keels were included in the design, and these were actually made and fitted but not riveted on the vessel. Since the proposal was made that Frahm anti-rolling tanks should be used if he has decided to dispense with bilge keels, as both devices should not be necessary, and accordingly the keels have been removed. It is understood, however, that they will be kept, so that they may be fitted at any time if they are found to be necessary.

WAVE SWEEPS OVER STERN OF BEAVER DOING DAMAGE

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 14.—When the steamer Beaver from San Francisco was crossing the bar a big sea swept over her stern, damaging the keel and flooding a number of rooms on the starboard side. The steamer Olympia arrived from San Francisco. The steamer Rose City and a fleet of coasters are anchored in the harbor awaiting an opportunity to go to sea.

TATOOSH 84 MILES; TRIANGLE 102 MILES

The weather observer advises that the wind at Tatoosh at 12 o'clock on the night of the twelfth attained a maximum velocity of eighty-four miles an hour. From Triangle word has been received that on the same night the wind blew at 102 miles an hour. While this is a terrific clip, it is not a record for Triangle.

LEAVES FOR COMOX AND GANGES HARBOR

Algerine Goes to the East Coast—Recommissioning on Her Return

Bound for the east coast to carry out her gun practices at the Comox range, and also to pay a visit to Ganges harbor, the British sloop-of-war Algerine, Capt. Brooker, left Esquimalt yesterday. The little warship will spend several days at Comox trying the skill of her gunners at puncturing the targets, and on her way back to this port will drop into Ganges. It is expected that the Algerine will be back at her moorings by Monday next.

This is the first time the Algerine has been out of Esquimalt harbor since she was dismantled about four months ago. She has been overhauling for her lengthy cruise to the South Seas. Ganges is known as an old English settlement, and the officers and sailors of the warships are always given a good time there. The warships like to make a call there. This will be the last opportunity most of the men on the Algerine will have to pay a visit to Ganges as the new crew is expected very shortly.

The new crews for both the Shearwater and Algerine are on their way across the Atlantic bound for Victoria. It is expected they will arrive here about November 25. The old crews will then return to England, and quite a number of the officers will also leave, having completed their commissions on this station.

As soon as the crews have changed, the two little warships will leave for the south, the Shearwater going to Valparaiso and the Easter and Christmas Islands. It is likely that they will leave about the beginning of December. The Shearwater will be away about two months, and the Algerine close to four months.

PACIFIC CABLE BOARD REPORT SHOWS VERY LARGE INCREASE

The statement of accounts of the Pacific Cable Board for the year ending March 31, 1912, is to hand, and discloses that the total of receipts for the year was $795,760, whilst the expenditure totalled $610,525, leaving an excess of receipts over expenditure of $185,235. There was an increase in the net traffic receipts for the year of $93,745, which was more by $49,455 than was originally estimated by the board. Expenditure shows an increase over that of 1910-11 of $63,805, of which $36,695 falls under the head of rent for the Montreal-Banfield land line, for which a full year's rent was payable, as against a four-months' rent only in 1910-11. Increments of salaries and overtime, due to increase of business, account for $15,625, and the increased charges for calls at Panning Island are represented by $3,490. Some saving was shown on the balance of other heads of expenditure. The expenditure has exceeded the original estimate of the board by $55,645, and the revised estimate of December last by $35,615.

The preliminary forecast of the revenue and expenditure for the year ending March 31, 1913, prepared on December 18, 1911, was as follows: By traffic revenue, $775,000; to renewal fund, $150,000 working expenses, $434,275; excess, $200,725; total expenditure, $775,000. The renewal fund stood at $1,431,400 on March 31, 1912. The balance of cash in hand at that date to the credit of this fund was $167,560. Credit is given to the renewal fund for all interest earned by investments on this account, and as the interest for the year has amounted to over $45,000, while the appropriation for the renewal fund for this purpose has been $150,000, the growth of the fund has been at the rate of over $195,000 a year. The cost of the new Australia-New Zealand cable will be met out of the renewal account. In addition to the cash reserve there is in hand, cable, etc., of the value of $79,725.

AFTER ROUGH TRIP MONTARA ARRIVES; PUEBLA DUE HERE

After a rough trip up the Coast from San Francisco the Pacific Coast freighter, Montara, arrived in port at 6 o'clock this morning. She put off 110 tons of freight here and proceeded to Vancouver this afternoon. The steamship City of Puebla, of the same line, will arrive here from the Golden Gate at 8 o'clock to-night. She has 107 tons for Victoria and quite a few passengers.

HAS TO SECURE COAL FROM AMERICAN SIDE

C. P. R. Cannot Get Supply at Island Mines—Case Brings Coal From Sound

Laden with American coal the C. P. R. barge Will W. Case, in tow of the tug Czar, arrived in port this morning from Tacoma. Unable to get a supply from the Vancouver Island mines owing to the coal strike, the C. P. R. has been forced to look to new fields for its fuel. A number of the B. C. coast service steamers, now in operation, are coal burners, and as the coal strike has been in progress for some time the reserve supply of the C. P. R. has been diminishing rapidly.

Officials of the C. P. R. say that the Tacoma people are charging fancy prices, and are certainly living up to the old adage of "making hay while the sun shines." The Tacoma bunkers are shipping much coal, and their returns are said to have set new records. Adelaide at Esquimalt.

The steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. Hunter, has shifted around to Esquimalt to have some repair work done about her stern. She will be at the B. C. Marine yards for about five days. While out of service the Princess Mary will maintain the morning service out of here for Vancouver.

The Princess Mary, Capt. McLeod, will be ready to take her sailing out of here for Prince Rupert and Skagway to-morrow morning. She has been at Esquimalt since Tuesday, having her bottom cleaned and painted and given a thorough overhauling.

Five Acre Ranches

SEATON PARK, ALBERNI.

R. V. Winch & Co., of Victoria, this week announce that they have placed "Seaton Park" on the market, and that this desirable subdivision will be sold in five-acre blocks. This land is located on the Sprout Lake road, and there is a frontage on the Seaton River. The point where this frontage comes in is one of the finest on the river, and the surroundings are picturesque to a degree. The land is largely alder bottom, and there is a good chance for one of those small ranches that are so much in demand in the district just now. The five acres is quite enough to enable a man to have all that is required in the way of a garden, poultry run, fruit trees, etc., and at the same time to be within reaching distance of the City of Alberni. The country immediately surrounding Seaton Park is one of the best for both fishing and hunting, and some of the finest catches of trout taken in the district have been from the river along the side of the park. The land is reached from Alberni by some four miles of one of the best roads to be found in the district. This road will be the one to be extended to Long Beach in time, and then the property will be on the main trunk road of this part of the Island. Seaton Park should become a favorite with those who wish to live a little way out of town, and at the same time be within reasonable distance of the business centre of the district.—Alberni Advocate, 1st November, 1912.

BARQUE WITH WHEAT IS DRIVEN ON SAND

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 14.—During the windstorm here yesterday, the British barque Owenes, Captain Jones, dragged her anchor in the bay and went on the sands. She is loaded with wheat, which she took on at Portland for the United Kingdom. The barque has been in the lower river since Saturday night awaiting a favorable opportunity to cross out to sea. She is under charter to M. H. Houiser.

ARGUE POINTS IN THREE-MILE LIMIT

Case of Seizure of Fishing Boat Thelma Coming Up in Courts To-morrow

Port Townsend, Nov. 14.—A matter of importance to American salmon fishermen will come before the British courts in Vancouver, B. C., November 15, when the case of the gasoline fishing boat Thelma, charged with fishing in Canadian waters, will be heard. The question involved is that of the position of the boat when seized by the British fish patrol boat Newington, July 24, 1912.

Capt. Peter Carlson, of the Thelma, states he was informed by the officers of the Newington that they would assert jurisdiction from Bonilla Point to Pachena Point on Vancouver Island. In case this is so decided by the British courts, it will work a decided loss in valuable fishing territory to American fishermen. A ruling of this character would materially change the three-mile limit of neutral waters. Between the points mentioned an indenture of the coast line seventeen and one-half miles long, with an extreme depth of one and a half miles, would come to be considered as a closed bay, thus moving the shore line that distance outward into neutral waters.

In case the British authorities prove the Thelma was within the league limit of shore when taken, the matter of point-to-point shore line may not be taken up, but Captain Carlson is positive he was well without the three-mile limit when captured.

Loses Good Fishing Grounds. The territory involved is one of the best salmon fishing waters at the entrance to the Strait of Juan de Fuca and lies between Swiftsure Banks and the coast of Vancouver Island. Hundreds of American power boats are annually engaged in fishing in the territory, and the Thelma decision will affect the welfare of all these fishermen in the future.

The Thelma was in trouble when seized by the Newington last July, her nets having become entangled in the propeller and rudder. The night had been foggy and thick and the boat drifted away from Swiftsure Banks while the crew was clearing away the gear.

When taken it is claimed by Captain Carlson he was not fishing and had no nets out other than the one causing trouble to the machinery. Further, he is positive the Thelma was safely within neutral waters and claims the length of time taken by the Newington in towing him to shore bears this statement out.

PANAMA AT STATION TOO LATE TO PASS

Maru Coming Up to Ocean Docks To-morrow Morning —Empress Again Spoken

Wireless messages received this morning from the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Panama Maru gave the information that she would not reach William Head until 10 o'clock to-night, which means that she will have to wait at the station until to-morrow morning. The reports received yesterday stating that the steamship would be at the Head last night were incorrect. A message reported coming from her gave her position as 55 miles from Victoria at 8 o'clock on Tuesday night, which would have brought her into the station late last night.

The Panama Maru will be granted her pratique at daylight to-morrow morning, and will be at the outer docks to discharge her cargo about 8 o'clock. She has 650 tons to unload here, and will not get away until late in the evening. The steamship also has a number of passengers for this port.

Another wireless message was received from the Empress of India, Capt. Beetham, last night. She was about 94 miles from Victoria at 8 o'clock last night, and it is expected that she will berth here early on Saturday morning.

The Kosmos liner Sakkarah is now on her way up the coast from Hamburg. She will come here to discharge a shipment of nitrate loaded at Chilean ports. It is expected that she will dock here some time next week.

"ALBERT," A COCKROACH.

The following from the Vancouver Sun's marine page indicates that on that enterprising paper's staff there is a genius whose future holds illimitable possibilities: "Albert," the world's famous cockroach, known in the leading shipping ports of the world because of his friendly disposition, is making his second visit to the port of Vancouver during the past year. He is stationed in the forward port upper corner of the stateroom of Chief Steward Nixon aboard the Blue Funnel liner Keemun, on which he has been the mascot for over three years.

Following his arrival in Vancouver on the last trip, "Albert" has had a busy session saying "hello" to the numerous friends he has made on previous voyages to Vancouver. "Albert" was discovered by Mr. Ronald Kenyon, of this city, and trained during a voyage he made on the big liner. When he left the ship Mr. Kenyon turned the training over to Mr. Nixon, who has taken great care of the big steamer's mascot ever since. "Albert's" quarters have been improved since his last visit from a crack in the wall to a canary cage.

Bug Getting Old. The cockroach is getting very old and is not as nimble as some cockroaches, so Mr. Nixon has made several "bridges" from small pieces of wood and cigarette cases, which have been placed so that "Bert," as he is called for short, can take exercise without losing his many seals during rough weather.

Most visitors aboard the Keemun regard "Albert" as a myth and laugh when the mascot is mentioned. To the doubters, however, Mr. Nixon soon shows proof when they visit his state room. A couple of knocks on the wall and a call for "Bert" results in the cockroach peering over the side of his roomy cage up near the ceiling. If it is the chief steward, "Bert" runs across the miniature bridges and down the wall, climbs on his master's finger, appears to sit down, glances around in a friendly way with his beady eyes and waves his feelers about deprecatingly.

No other person aboard can gain the insect's confidence, as he will run from the presence of any other person but the steward just like any other careful cockroach.

Is Fond of Light. Before the lights go on in the stateroom, "Albert" mopes around gloomily. When the white lights are turned on, however, this "old" cockroach comes skipping merrily down the wall and shows signs of enjoying life. He was given a Chinese dumpling.

The Pacific Coast steamship City of Puebla, Capt. Paulsen, arrived in port last night from San Francisco.

Homeward bound on her itinerary of Oriental ports, the Great Northern liner Minnesota sailed from Nagasaki on Tuesday. The vessel will call at Kobe and Yokohama before beginning her voyage across the Pacific. The Minnesota when she clears from Yokohama will have a big cargo of raw silk, goods, tea, matting and other Oriental products. Officials of the Great Northern Steamship Company expect the vessel to reach the Great Northern dock at Seattle on December 2.

A new steamship service under the British flag, between Antwerp and Brazil, has been organized, and will be run jointly by Furness & Co., and the Adolf Deppes owners, of Antwerp.

With a cargo of 1,000,000 feet of lumber loaded at Seattle the schooner Forest Hong will be towed to sea to-day to begin her voyage for San Diego. The schooner Transit is also loading at Seattle and will complete a cargo of 500,000 feet for San Francisco in a few days. The Transit probably will enter the Hawaiian island trade out of the Golden Gate for the rest of the winter, returning to Seattle in the spring to outfit for her annual voyage to Point Barrow and other Behring Sea ports.

Cable advices report the arrival at Mororan, Japan, on Monday of the British steamship Algoa, bound from Seattle for ports in the United Kingdom. The Algoa has a cargo of 25,000 tons of wheat, the largest of its kind to leave the Sound this year. She is under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

And loaded part of her cargo at Tacoma.

The Harrison liner Politician, bound from North Pacific ports to Europe, was reported arriving at Rio de Janeiro on Monday last.

After filling her tanks with gasoline at Friday Harbor the fishing schooner Jessie, Capt. Heater, put to sea yesterday afternoon. She was sighted off the outer docks heading for the west coast.

COMMISSIONER OF YUKON PASSES AWAY

MEMORABLE EXAMPLE OF WILLIAM OGILVIE

Remarkable Record of Administration in Strenuous Days of Northern Rush

The late William Ogilvie, whose death is announced from Winnipeg, was well-known and highly respected in Victoria, especially among the numerous Klondikers who now reside here.

A former Yukon pioneer, D. R. MacFarlane, of this city, who knew Mr. Ogilvie for many years, dating his acquaintance back to the time when they first met in Ottawa, said to a Times representative this morning that the north had possessed few more faithful public servants than the late commissioner. He considered the public interest rather than his own pocket, and came out of the country a poor man when he might have been a very rich one.

"Mr. Ogilvie," he said, "was surveying in the north when the rush commenced, in the fall of 1896, and the next two years took thousands of people drawn from all over the world to the treasure trove of the north. In one spring 30,000 people came in to the territory from the outside world. During that time he acted as a government surveyor. He could have made a large fortune in connection with the chaos of claims and holdings staked, but he went steadily on in the work of his profession, completely above suspicion and winning the confidence of the miners, which stood him in good stead at the time of his subsequent appointment.

"In the spring of the following year, Major Walsh having been made administrator, Mr. Ogilvie left the Yukon, where his love of exploration and adventure had taken him, for the national capital. He was recognized as the right man in the right place, and returned with his commission as governor on July 4, 1898. He came back to the Yukon at a critical time. There were gathered the sweepings of the nations, and the commissioner found himself face to face with the gambling hell and dance halls in all their garish ugliness.

"He moved slowly but surely in matters of reform, quiet in his methods and modest in his personal actions. With the recognition of the public for honesty, he was able in three years to bring order out of chaos, suppress vice, and the evil which walked shamelessly in the light of day. In fact, he left the Yukon much as it is to-day, a regenerated country. After he retired from the territorial chair he went into business in a dredging company, where, I think, he had financial losses. His activities for discovery and exploration were demonstrated in the fact that he died practically in harness.

"As a man the late commissioner was genial and kindly, and an excellent raconteur. He was not a strong politician, but friendly perhaps to the Conservatives from his associations with Sir John Macdonald, who as minister of the interior asked him to go west to locate certain geographical boundaries. His commissionership was a model for his successors, and his character came scathless out of the fierce light which beat about the administration of public affairs for several years in the Yukon. He successfully exculpated himself from all the charges brought against him during his term of office, and retired with the good will of the public."

FATAL ACCIDENT ON HILLSIDE AVENUE

An Eight-Year-Old Boy Sustained Fractured Skull Dying Shortly After

Walter Noble, eight years of age, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noble, 2847 Prior street, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when riding on the back of a delivery wagon on Hillside avenue between Prior and Blackwood streets. The boy's head was crushed between the box of the vehicle and the brake of the wheel, his body having been dragged from the rig body through his foot catching in the spokes. An inquest is being held by the coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart at the city hall this afternoon.

The lad sustained a severe fracture to the skull, his injuries were so bad that he did not live an hour after admission to St. Joseph's hospital. The accident occurred through the boy endeavoring to jump from the rear of a wagon to a rig. He caught an iron bar at the rear of the second rig, but missed his footing, and one foot became entangled in the spokes. The boy's body was whirled round with the wheel till his head struck the brake.

Louis Borden, who was driving the vehicle, did not know of the accident or that the boy had attempted to climb on his rig until he heard the shouts of a man on the sidewalk who saw the accident. Borden immediately stopped his horses, and went to the injured boy. He was, however, too late to save the boy from the fatal effects of his fall.

At the hospital the boy was attended by Dr. Bryant, but the fracture was so serious that life was despaired of from the first.

CLAIMING $5,000 FOR A BROKEN LEG

LOGGER INJURED AT JORDAN RIVER CAMP

After Long Sickness Will Limp for Life and Appeals to Jury for Recompense

Claiming $5,000 damages for injuries received in an accident at the lumber camp of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, Jordan river on March 9th, John L. Klem appeared as plaintiff in a supreme court action this morning limping, with an umbrella used as a walking stick. His solicitor, Frank Higgins, in opening the case informed the jury that the man would be lame for life as part of the leg bone had been extracted.

Plaintiff was employed for nine and one-half days at camp number two, Jordan river, as rigging slinger, and while engaged at his occupation a swivel, made by the camp blacksmith, and a wire strap attaching the swivel to a tree trunk, broke under the strain of engine and log. The wire hauling cable flew against the plaintiff's leg doing the injury complained of, and by reason of which he was kept in the camp hospital at Jordan river for three months and eighteen days, and then sent to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

Charges are made by the plaintiff and his counsel that the swivel and strap are really the cause of the accident to him, the articles being improper for the work that was being done, and of insufficient strength to haul the large logs that were being taken from the woods at the time. The plaintiff gave evidence that the wire strap was made of a piece of rotten wire rope, which when it broke was found to be rusted through, and that the swivel used was similar to others made in the camp. Several of them, he said, broke during the nine days he worked in the camp.

When the rebound of the line occurred the plaintiff was thrown to the ground, but did not see what struck him. At the same time the hook tender, named Kelly, was knocked unconscious. Klem was taken to the camp hospital, to which he said the employees of the company contributed $25 weekly hospital fee, and there his leg was put in a cast after seven weeks. At the end of four and one-half weeks the cast was taken off and the leg was found to be still broken. Another cast was put on. He was in the hospital altogether three months and eighteen days, and during that time he suffered great pain. On one occasion at night, the witness said, he called to the camp doctor for help because of the pain he suffered, and was told by the doctor to keep quiet and stay still where he was.

When the patient was brought to the city and admitted to St. Joseph's hospital he was operated upon and a piece of the bone taken from his leg.

H. B. Robertson, appearing for the company, cross-examined the witness on his logging experience, and found that he had worked at camps in various parts of the province. He had been a logger for about three years, and knew considerable about rigging, but was not sufficiently experienced for the position of foreman. He said he and others in the camp had complained to the superintendent that the rig used was not strong enough, and that it was inferior in strength and quality to rigs used for similar work in other camps. It was not the standard swivel, and the tackle was too light. He also claims that the superintendents at the camp were incompetent.

Mr. Justice Gregory is hearing the action with a special jury, and other witnesses for the plaintiff and for the defendant are being heard this afternoon.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Gwynn will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, 852 Mason street, Rev. T. W. Gladstone officiating.

The numerous friends of Mrs. James C. Stratford, formerly resident in Victoria, will be grieved to hear of her death on October 12 in New Zealand, where she was visiting in search of health. She was survived by her husband, who accompanied her to New Zealand, three sons, Arthur C. Stratford, of Vancouver; Capt. Frank C. Stratford, of this city; and Hugo C. Stratford, of Stewart, B. C.; also one daughter, Mrs. Otto Buckholts, of Vancouver, and nine grandchildren.

The funeral of little Walter J. Noble, who was accidentally killed yesterday on Hillside avenue, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 from the Victoria Undertaking parlors.

The funeral of little Evelyn Muriel Vincent took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands-Fulton parlors, Rev. R. Connell officiating. There was a good attendance, and several beautiful floral wreaths were sent by friends of the family.

U. S. TREATY WITH RUSSIA.

Washington, Nov. 14.—An agreement between the United States and Russia to take the place of the commercial treaty of 1832, the abrogation of which becomes effective January 1 next, has been virtually reached, according to information from high official authorities. Nothing as to the exact nature of the agreement is announced. It is declared, however, that it would be worked out satisfactorily to both countries before the old treaty expires.

MAYOR BECKWITH SUED FOR LIBEL

SUNDAR SINGH AND OTHER PLAINTIFFS

Is Charged With Saying Hindus Are Immoral—Local Colony Resents It

An action for libel and slander has been commenced against John Leander Beckwith, mayor of Victoria, in the Supreme Court of British Columbia by Sundar Singh, an Hindu, for himself and on behalf of all Hindus residing in the province. Mayor Beckwith attended an examination for discovery of evidence yesterday afternoon at the court house, Bastion square. C. F. Davis is representing Sundar Singh and the other Hindus.

The words complained of by the Hindu and which are held by him to be libellous, and are alleged to have been uttered by Mr. Beckwith, appeared in the form of an interview with the mayor in the Canadian Mail. At the discovery examination yesterday afternoon the mayor said he had no recollection of ever having uttered the words, yet he would not undertake to say he had not uttered them. Mr. Davis says it may be found necessary in the progress of the case to obtain a commission to take the evidence of the reporter of the Canadian Mail who is held to have interviewed the mayor.

The words complained of and forming the subject matter of the action are as follows: "The Asiatics have come into British Columbia in such numbers that there are Hindu temples in Victoria and Vancouver. The Hindus are a source of trouble. They are not suited to the country. They are immoral and quarrelsome, and have not stamina enough to become good workmen." "The Hindus," while admitting that some people in all nations may be immoral," said Mr. Davis this morning, "object to an allegation which affects the whole race, and hence the libel."

It was in this vein that Rev. H. A. Carson addressed a meeting of members during the luncheon hour to-day.

Carnegie Library.—The Library Bulletin for November will be a double-barrelled one, and will contain the titles of all the books added during the month of October as well. Miss Stewart, the librarian, announced this morning that in addition to the large number of children's books which have been put into circulation during the last week or two, she has also ordered a further and much larger supply which will include practically all the best known children's works written in English on both sides of the ocean.

Sale of Work.—The Political Equality League will hold a sale of work next Thursday afternoon with the donation of Mrs. Harold Petrick, Heywood avenue, Mrs. Roper having consented to perform the official opening. A full display of home produce, jams, jellies, etc., will be on sale, and there will be a second-hand bookstall, a table of fancy work, plain sewing, aprons, candles, and flowers. An excellent programme of music will be given during the afternoon and evening, and everyone is cordially invited to assist in whatever way they can, and, if possible, to visit the bazaar.

Have Grabbed Sayward.—A deputation representing the Board of Trade and Real Estate Exchange will shortly call upon the minister of lands in connection with a matter which has been agitating both bodies for some time. This had to do with the deletion of Sayward district, a section of the eastern coast above Comox, as being under mainland jurisdiction as far as land registration is concerned. At the Real Estate Exchange luncheon yesterday afternoon the matter was brought up by Beaumont Boggs, who expressed the hope that the condition would be righted.

The Norwegian steamship August, on her way from Mororan, Japan, for Callifornia ports with a cargo of railroad ties, has been chartered by Balfour Guthrie & Co. to load barley at San Francisco or wheat at Portland, with the option of Puget Sound, for the United Kingdom at $50. The August sailed from Mororan November 7.

CONFIRMS STORY OF ATROCITIES

SERVANS CARRYING ON WAR OF EXTERMINATION

Women and Children as Well as Old Men Are Brutally Sabred

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The reports of atrocities committed by the Servian troops on the Albanians are confirmed by Capt. Perseus, the correspondent of the Tageblatt, writing from Uskup. He said he witnessed the burning of Albanian villages, and heard from numerous eye-witnesses of the reckless shooting not only of men but of women. The Servians, he adds, admitted they were carrying on a war of extermination against the Albanians, whom Servian officers declared "must be swept from the earth."

The Albanians in Uskup Hospital begged the Sisters of Mercy in charge to permit them to remain, because they were certain they would be shot down on the streets.

An Albanian came to Capt. Perseus one night and excitedly narrated that the Servians had just entered the house where he lodged and had sabred three old unarmed Albanians.

Evidence is to be collected after the war from the parish priests between Mitrovitza and Uskup to prove that the Servians acted on orders to kill all men above 18, and that they often murdered women and children.

BANK MANAGER'S APPOINTMENT

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—A Montreal dispatch announces that Mr. H. Hadyr Horsey has been appointed to represent the Dominion Bank in London, whose present manager is Mr. Eric Hamber, manager of the bank here. Vancouver friends are under the impression that he has been called to this city to enter business, but no definite statement regarding his plans has yet been made.

KING ALFONZO HAS SELECTED PREMIER

Cabinet Will Otherwise Be Same as Under the Late Senor Canalejas

Madrid, Nov. 14.—Count Alvaro de Romanones, president of the chamber of deputies, has been selected by King Alfonso to form a new cabinet in consequence of the assassination of Premier Canalejas. It was announced that Count de Romanones had decided to retain all the Canalejas ministers. Count Romanones has held portfolios in various cabinets. He was formerly minister of the interior, minister of justice, and minister of public instruction. Senor Moret y Prendergast, former premier and minister of justice, has been appointed president pro tem of the deputies.

TRIAL OF CONVICT.

Some Light Shed on the Prison Regulations.

New Westminster, Nov. 14.—Two witnesses were heard this morning at the trial of Joseph Smith, the convict accused of having murdered Guard Johnson at the prison here on October 5. William A. Patchell, chief keeper at the prison, stated that since the day Johnson was killed the inside guards at the prison have not been allowed to carry revolvers. Only the outside guards are armed.

Deputy Warden W. J. Carroll stated that when the prison officers checked up on the evening of October 5 it was found that the revolver carried by Guard Craig was missing. A thorough search of the prison was made, and the missing revolver, together with the keys of the door leading into the brickyard, were found in the ventilator in Wilson's cell. The revolver had been taken from Craig when the two convicts made their first break for liberty, and it and the keys had been picked up by Wilson and concealed about his body during or after the shooting. Mr. Carroll stated that Guard Craig had been censured for carrying a revolver that was not loaded on the day of the shooting.

Smith, the prisoner, seems to be very cool. He is taking copious notes as the trial proceeds and sends them over to his counsel. The trial will probably last the remainder of the week.

LAKE NAVIGATION.

Effect of Autumn Weather Upon Vessel Movements.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 14.—The first steamer to arrive up-bound this morning was the C. P. R. liner Keewatin, which had been forced to anchor outside of Detour all day yesterday. She was closely followed by the steel trust steamer James J. Hill. These steamers were the first to lock up since 2 p. m. yesterday. A few steamers are waiting above the locks unable to lock down on account of the lowering of the water due to the heavy gale. There is only 15 feet four inches on the sill of the Poe locks this morning. The steamer J. L. Weeks, ashore on Round Island, will have to be lighted. She is on a sandy bottom, out about two feet. The lighter Reliance has a portion of the cargo of the Roseate aboard.

TO PROTECT LAKE PUMPING STATION

OLD ENGINE SENT FROM HEADQUARTERS

Start on Gorge Road Paving—Portion of Northeast Sewer to Be Finished

The city engineer and fire chief, as the result of a visit to the intake of the city waterworks at Elk lake yesterday will send out an old chemical engine for the protection of the two gasoline engines used for pumping through the filter beds at the Beaver lake intake. These engines are absolutely without protection, and in case of a fire the water supply of the city would be cut off. This engine will be maintained at the lake in case of emergencies. Since the rains of last week the lake has advanced half an inch.

The work of paving the portion of Gorge road from the Puntal to Garbally road, two blocks, commences to-day, excavation being begun after the storm water has been got rid of. The contract of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company carries the work to Manchester road, this being the terminal point of the first of the three by-laws, but it is not thought probable that more than the two blocks will be opened in view of the late season, and the uncertainty of the weather.

The northeast sewer from Victor street to the connection with the Oak Bay trunk sewer at Foul Bay road is expected to be completed in another week, and to be finished within the estimate of $25,000 for which the city engineer asked. It will enable the portion of the residents east of that point to have access to sewer accommodation this winter.

The electric lighting committee meets this afternoon to discuss the new wiring by-law, and will have the advice of the inspector (Mr. Daly) when it is taken under consideration.

Some matters will an hour later engage the attention of the health and morals committee, which will hold its first meeting since Alderman Beard returned from Moose Jaw. Alderman Gleason has been his deputy in the interval.

The waterworks department offices were opened to-day in the Fairfield block, much to the relief of the treasurer's department.

CHELOHSIN MAKES FIRST CALL HERE

Came in Last Night—Is Relieving Venture on Run to Bella Coola

Making her first visit to Victoria since she arrived on this coast from Belmont, the Union steamer Chelohsin reached port last night and sailed this morning. The Chelohsin is taking the run between this port and Bella Coola, relieving the Venture, which is to lay up for some time. The service to the northern port during the winter will be weekly, the same as it has been during the summer and fall months. The Venture is expected in Vancouver to-day from the north, and she will

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF -- GROWS HAIR

Don't pay 50 cents for worthless hair tonics—Use old, reliable, harmless "Danderine"—Get results.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

In one day's use it will make you feel as if born anew. It furnishes the motive power that runs through your body and quickly banishes pain.

No matter what ails you, there is a cure for you in Nature's remedy—electricity. The greatest cures on record have been performed by this famous invention, and it is recognized to-day as the greatest remedial agent known to mankind. It cures every form of weakness, restores the fire and vigor of youth, cures all forms of Nervous Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Varicocoele, Lumbago, Backache and many other complaints, after every other known system of medical treatment has failed.

Dear Sirs:—Fifteen months ago, I purchased Electro-Vigor for muscular rheumatism. After five days, a two years' siege of pain disappeared completely. I now consider myself perfectly cured. Never a twinge of pain has returned, although I have worked in cold water up to my knees for months. For my age, 67 years, your appliance has proven a great invigorator, as I am able to work six days every week and feel fine afterward.

I value health more than money and my investment in Electro-Vigor has proven invaluable. I cheerfully take the time, a year or more, to recommend your appliance.

Yours sincerely, F. BUTTOMER, Kerrisdale, B. C.

BURNS SAYS HE WILL STAGE HYLAND AND BROWN FOR TITLE

Calgary's "Joke" Boxing Impresario Continues His Ramblings—Gold Belt Has Been Ordered—Wolgaast Turned Down Offer to Fight for Burns

"It is hardly possible that Bayley will cover my deposit," said Dick Hyland last night. "But I will give him every chance, the five days not expiring until to-night. Count seemed willing enough to post the money, according to his story, right after the bout, so I can't understand why he won't now, unless he is sure Bayley will be licked. Moreover, with Bayley so sure of victory why won't he agree to box for a substantial purse of 50 per cent. of gross. I guess we have their number, that's all."

Orders the Belt.
Tommy Burns yesterday ordered from a local jeweler the thousand-dollar gold belt, emblematic of the Canadian lightweight championship, and will give it to Hyland to defend unless Bayley shows a willingness to fight.

TWENTY THOUSAND "BONES" ARE NECESSARY TO FINANCE PRO. CLUB

Coast Clubs Willing to Aid Victoria in Securing Senior Lacrosse Team—Boss Johnson Willing to Turn Pro.—Hockey Stars Would Round Out a Strong Team

"It will take twenty thousand dollars to get a professional lacrosse club for Victoria under way, but I am sure that both New Westminster and Vancouver will be willing to do all in their power to place a team in the capital," stated Con Jones, of Vancouver, to the Times, with regard to the probability of Jimmie Murphy handling a professional Victoria twelve in the British Columbia Lacrosse Association next summer. "When in Toronto last August," continued Mr. Jones, "Mr. Murphy's terms were stated very plainly, and while I could not at the time sign any contract which would bring Mr. Murphy to the Coast, I am sure that he will come to Victoria if he is given a contract at the terms stated."

Boss Johnson to Jump.
The difficulties of establishing a professional team in the capital include the securing of players of class. It is rumored that Boss Johnson and other local amateur lacrosse stars are willing to make the jump, providing the bait is tempting enough, while the importation of half-a-dozen Easterners would make the locals strong enough to give both Vancouver and New Westminster teams a battle. Of course, it would be expecting too much for followers of the Senators to pull for a championship the first time out, but a team that would run on one two, will satisfy local patrons of the national pastime.

Jimmie Murphy stated to the Times that he could bring four or five real stars West with him, should he decide to come to Victoria, while with Don Smith playing hockey here, Pitts and Laviolette slated for the Coast, Boss Johnson and other local boys, a surprisingly strong team could be placed on the field. Con Jones, also, is willing to transfer several of his players to Victoria, while New Westminster might be prevailed upon to contribute a player or two. The prospects are bright.

adrian lightweight championship, and will give it to Hyland to defend unless Bayley shows a willingness to fight. Burns tried to sign Ad. Wolgaast to meet Hyland in December, but the champion has New Year's bout booked, and couldn't accept. Negotiations have therefore been opened with Pal Brown to box Hyland, for the belt and championship. An offer was made Brown last night conditional that he make the weight at ring side and post $500 forfeit. Joe Uvanni arrived here yesterday to meet Cleve Hawkins on the 29th. "I will box Cyclone Scott any time, any place and any conditions," said Uvanni. "If a club will stage the bout and give reasonable guarantee."

SALARY LIMITS FOR THE MINORS

Northwestern Clubs Allowed $1,000 Extra, Making League's Limit $3,500

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—The question of maximum salary limits affecting teams which are members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, was disposed of last night, when all classes, with the exception of AA, reported to the convention as follows:

Class A, $3,000; Class B, $2,500, with the exception of the Northwestern league, which, it was agreed, should be allowed $1,000 additional; Class C, $1,400; Class D, $1,200. These amounts do not include the salaries of the managers. If a manager also holds a playing position, an arrangement can be made whereby he may be allowed a certain amount as a player and an additional compensation as manager. The clubs in Class AA—American Association Pacific Coast league and Eastern league—sent in a sealed report, and it is understood, have agreed upon a limit, but, as none of the representatives of those clubs were present when the reports were read, the amount of the salary limit was not made public. The salary limits were announced after a long debate. A motion to make them public was adopted by a vote of 16 to 7.

A motion was adopted providing that the secretary of all leagues report to the National secretary by February 15, upon individual players in their respective leagues.

LEAVES FOR EAST.

Milton Oppenheimer, secretary of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic union, has left to attend the annual meeting of the A. A. U. of Canada which will be held in Toronto on Saturday. It is the intention of the B. C. representative to ask for the track and field and boxing championships for this province.

GOOD TO FIGHT.

Sam Good, the crack lightweight who will meet Joe Bayley in a fifteen round bout at Prince Rupert next week, and his manager, Johnny Leonard, will furnish the preliminary to the George Walker-George Murray championship wrestling match at the Vancouver Athletic Club on Friday night.

DATE MOVED BACK.

Swimming Meet Will Be Held on November 30—Programme Announced.

To accommodate the Vancouver swimmers it has been decided to postpone the coming swimming championships from November 27 to November 30. This will ensure a larger entry from the Terminal City. The complete programme is as follows:

- 1.—One hundred yards championship of B. C.
- 2.—Relay race, championship of B. C., 4 men, each man 50 yards.
- 3.—Polo match, Vancouver vs. Victoria.
- 4.—Tub race.
- 5.—60 yards, junior.
- 6.—Boxing contest.
- 7.—Candle race, 40 yards.
- 8.—Tug-of-war, four men.

Competitors for championship events must be registered with the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

HERE'S HOPING HIS NERVES HOLD OUT

JOHNNY EVERS

The new manager of the Chicago Cubs. He undertakes the job with the handicap of perhaps three of the strongest cogs of the old Cub machine missing—Chance, Tinker and Sheppard. Some job it must be confessed that is faced by a young man who only a year ago had to quit the game a nervous wreck, but here's hoping, which is at least as much of a boost as anybody else has offered him.

ROGER BRESNAHAN

Who was recently discharged as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, by Mrs. Helen Britton. Roger has received many offers to manage other clubs but he has not decided what he will do. Bresnahan was one of the best catchers in the National League. He caught most of the games for the New York Giants before going to the St. Louis club.

EASTERN CANADA RUGBY OUTLOOK

Pete Campbell's Canadian champions have one of the hardest tasks ever put before a football team to become this year's champions. It is necessary for them to win their three remaining games, and from present indications it looks as if they will not repeat. They won from Queen's on Saturday, but with Maynard not in the best of condition, it looks like McGill for the Intercollegiate championship. The games necessary for the champions to win are:

- Saturday, Nov. 16—With McGill, on neutral grounds.
- Saturday, Nov. 23—With Interprovincial winners at Varsity Stadium.
- Saturday, Nov. 30—With O. R. F. U. winners on latter's grounds.

PACIFIC COAST CHAMPIONS TO BATTLE AT VICTORIA THEATRE

To-night's Big Fistic Card Includes Appearance of Half a Dozen Ring Champions—Seattle Sends a Brace of Good Boys—Bayley May Box Al. Davies

Seattle is out for gore at to-night's big boxing tourney at the Victoria theatre, and a telegram received this morning by officers of the J. B. A. A. announce that Clarence Dickson, 125-lb. Pacific coast champion, will accompany Clarence Rothus, 135-lb. champion of the Pacific coast, to Victoria for to-night's card. The Seattle club at first agreed to send Duval, the clever lightweight of the Seattle Athletic Club, but when the American club learned that Scotty McKay was the J. B. A. A. entry, they decided to send on their very best, hence the entry of the pair of champions. This will make the 125-lb. and 135-lb. bouts the features of the evening, although the wrestling contests contain the pick of the coast grapplers. The appearance of Frank Barrigan, the Canadian welterweight champion, tops off the greatest fight card that has ever been offered here, and a bumper house is looked for.

Bayley May Appear.

No word has yet been received from Dr. Davidson, of Vancouver, president of the British Columbia A. A. U., and unless his consent is given it will be impossible for the J. B. A. A. promoters to go ahead and stage Joe Bayley in an exhibition bout with Al. Davies, the clever local bantam. Bill Davies will replace Bayley, and the two brothers are sure to give an interesting display of the fistic art. The tournament to-night will be held in the Victoria theatre, starting at 8.30 o'clock. The following are the officials: Referee for boxing, Al. Jeffs; judge for wrestling, C. Wrigglesworth; boxing judges, V. K. Gray and B. McCleave; announcer, C. Connors; timekeepers, L. Oliver and Joe F. x.

EAST WILL OBJECT STRONGLY

Application of Coast Clubs for A. A. U. Offices; Also the 1913 Championships Arouse Montreal Sportsmen

The statement from the West that British Columbia will go after the presidency of the A. A. U. of Canada this fall is a sign of life in the organization at last. Since 1908 J. G. Merrick and Norton H. Crow have continued in office as president and secretary, respectively, mainly because of the fact that no one else appeared in sight to take on the jobs. Now, at last, there is to be competition—and competition is the soul of athletics. President J. G. Merrick has declared that he will step down and, apparently means it at this time, for you remember, he said the same thing once before. When the A. A. U. of Canada rose in 1908 from the ashes of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada and the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, it was understood, though it was never put in writing, that the office of the presidency was to alternate between the different provinces composing the union. While this principle has, of course, much to recommend it, it is hardly advisable to make it a fixed rule. There are many who think that a good man should be kept on in office if he be the right man in the right place. But since J. G. Merrick is to resign there is to be a scramble and it will be interesting to see who comes out on top. From the Montreal point of view officials in British Columbia are not desirable. Vancouver is a long way off and there are times when wire and mail correspondence fail to supply the place of personal attention. Moreover, while there can be no doubt that matters athletic are forging ahead in British Columbia, the East still holds the bulk of the athletic population. What more desirable, then, than to have the principal executive officers on the spot? A president in Toronto. Is in close touch with the athletic doings in the two great provinces of Ontario and Quebec. A president in British Columbia can hardly be expected to have the same knowledge of Eastern conditions as men on the spot, and the British Columbia delegates will probably have considerable difficulty in persuading the delegates and directors of the A. A. U. to the contrary. The suggestion that the championships should be taken West next year is also likely to meet with considerable opposition.

NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE DROPS FIGHT FOR CLASS "A" RATING

Strong Opposition by Coast League Made It Impossible for Fielder Jones to Secure Higher Classification—Class "AA" Clubs Reject Proposed Salary Limit

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—The Northwestern League to-day decided to drop the fight against the Pacific Coast and Southern Leagues for a higher classification. The decision is the result of a compromise by which the salary limit is placed at a class "A" rating, though the league retains its old classification.

Coast League Opposition.

The Northwesterners came here determined to force the granting of a classification which would make it impossible for future trouble like that of last year, when the Pacific Coast and Southern Leagues both raided the Northwesterners for players by the draft route. The Pacific Coast magnates declared early to-day that they would resist to the end any attempt to place the Northwesterners on the same basis as themselves.

Have Class "A" Limit.

The bringing in of the report, which was finally adopted, on a salary limit, conciliated the Northwesterners, particularly as they found they had no chance of victory on their original plan of campaign. The salary limit rule provides that class "B" clubs have $2,500 as a maximum, but that on account of the size of the Northwestern League that league be an exception and its limit be fixed at $3,500, the same as the class "A" leagues.

Class "AA" Withdraw Limit.

With the question of maximum salaries disposed of, baseball men representing minor leagues making up the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs expected to-day to settle several matters relating to constitutional affairs governing the organization. President Baum, of the Pacific Coast League, one of the organizations embraced in class "AA", said to-day that the maximum salary limit agreed upon by class "AA" members was later withdrawn and probably never will be read or made public.

San Francisco, Columbus and Omaha are attempting to land the next annual meeting.

The annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be held at Toronto on Saturday, November 23.

Hugh Lehman intends to hike back to the Pacific coast.

BEAT BARNEY AND BROKE THE RECORD

E. J. Cameron, of this city, has received word that Earl Cooper, in a Stutz, beat Barney Oldfield in a Benz and a two hundred horsepower Renault in five and twenty-five mile races at San Jose on Tuesday. Cooper broke the track record, making the mile in 54 seconds on a wet track.

COLLEGE RUGBY FINAL.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Ottawa will be the real old college town Saturday when the football teams of the Toronto University and McGill play off at Lansdowne Park for the inter-collegiate championship. McGill will send up a student body of 1,200 at least, while the number of the varsity students who will be along to cheer the Blue and White will be almost as great.

MAY EXPEL KILT.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Martin Kilt, the "bad man" of the Ottawa Big Four Rugby team, will probably be called before the governors of the union to explain his actions after the Argonaut-Ottawa match Saturday, when it is charged, he made threats against Ben Simpson, who was referee and threatened to get him. Kilt's suspension will be demanded by the other clubs.

AUSTRALIANS WIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—The Australian Waratahs signalled their advent into Southern California by smothering the Rugby team of the University of Southern California under a mass of forty-one points, while the local team was held scoreless.

Beware of the Car Made for Trading

Get a fair price for your old car. But don't demand anything unreasonable or you will pay for it in unsatisfactory quality and poor service in the new car

If you are trading your old automobile in on a new one, here is a caution you should observe.
There are cars toward the purchase of which a larger price will be allowed for your present automobile than you can obtain in buying a more desirable automobile.
It is better to decide upon which car you will prefer. Satisfy yourself that it is the best buy at a cash price, and that it is the one you would choose if you were paying cash. Then if you are selling your old car, obtain the best bargain possible.
But do not accept merely for the sake of a change in cars, an automobile that you do not consider advisable at a cash price.
HUDSONS are not made to trade. HUDSON automobiles "second-hand" command a higher price proportionate to their original cost than those of any other make in the medium price class. They are not sold to the dealer at a large discount thus permitting him to make an extra allowance for old cars. No more profit on the HUDSON is allowed than that given on most automobiles at similar price.

The quality of the car is to be depended upon to make the sale, not the inducement of price. That is why 48 engineers are regularly employed by the Hudson Motor Car Company in designing HUDSON automobiles.
The HUDSON shows what all these men working in unison know.
They gained their knowledge of motor car building in 97 well-known American and European factories. They had a hand in building more than 200,000 cars. No restrictions were put upon them in building the New HUDSONS. The highest quality was sought for and obtained. Price was not fixed.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE MAY SEND STRONG RUGBY TEAM HERE

In all probability a combined Rugby team from the universities of Oxford and Cambridge will pay a visit to California next year. William W. Hill, the referee of the big game this year and secretary of the New South Wales Rugby Union, will leave for England next week, and on his arrival there will strive to arrange a tour for the combined English universities to Australia. At the meeting of the California Rugby Union Hill was given the power of attorney of this body to make arrangements for the tourists to finish their tour in California and play a series of matches with the best clubs and university teams in the state.

Farnum P. Griffiths, secretary of the president of the University of California, was present at the meeting, and brought the matter to the attention of the delegates present. Griffiths was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, and before leaving the English seat of learning made tentative arrangements for just such a trip, and there is every likelihood of the matter being clinched on the arrival of Hill.

Should the team decide to visit America, strong efforts will be made to have the club play in Victoria.

J. J. CORBETT SAYS THAT COLOR LINE SHOULD NOT BE ENFORCED

Pompador Jim Puts in a Boost for Langford and McVey Now That Johnson Has Fallen by the Wayside — Arranging for a Successor

Speaking of the present situation in the boxing world, James J. Corbett says that "Jack Johnson's ring career is over apparently, as a result of his late escape." There does not seem to be a chance for him to fight again in any country where the sport flourishes. Hugh McIntosh has turned him down and Australia looked to be his last chance. While I would prefer to see some white man take the title from Johnson in honest battle, still its for the good of the game that he has been barred.

"Tom McCarver, the Los Angeles promoter, argues that Johnson having been deposed by public sentiment it is up to him to find a successor and with that end in view has arranged a series of white heavyweight battles for the winter months. He has already signed Jim Flynn and Luther McCarty to do battle over the 20-round distance for a substantial purse and a diamond-encrusted belt emblematic of the 'fly white' championship.

"McCarty will be put to a severe test in the Flynn battle, and his future is at stake on this one bout. If he wins Luther will be acclaimed the real 'white hope,' although if the blacks are to be erased from competition I fail to see the significance of that high-sounding title. With a slugger of the Flynn type and a raw mixer like McCarty, there doesn't appear to be a chance for the bout to go the limit. Billy McCarney, who looks after Luther's affairs, must have a world of confidence to pit this green lad against the veteran Flynn.

"It doesn't seem fair to barr Langford or Jeanette from participation in a tournament arranged to dispose of the heavy-weight title. Especially so as Johnson, a negro, won the title fairly from Jeffries. While personally opposed to contests between whites and blacks where titles are concerned, this is an exceptional case and as long as a negro was given a chance to win it, there is but one way to take the title from the race, and that is in the ring with 5-ounce gloves. With Johnson barred let Jeanette or Langford, the best of the blacks, take his place as representative of the race. Then if a white man can beat the negro he can claim the championship with all honors pertaining thereto, whereas a title won in McCarty's tourney will have a flaw in it. As my friends know I am no admirer of the negro in pugilism, but in this particular case the plan I suggest is the only fair way to play the game."

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Vancouver is the Original Hog Town. Some years back, Toronto was known all over the Dominion as the Hog Town, because of the manner in which everything was grabbed for the Queen City athletic clubs. This term gradually wore off as the athletic managers of the Toronto teams began to realize that they were alienating public opinion and a lot of gate money by their clutching methods. On the coast, the activities of the gentlemen who control Rugby in Vancouver, bring the term down upon that fair city. The allotment of dates for the tour of the Waratah Rugby Club are not fair to Victoria. In all fairness the Vancouver executive should see that Victoria is given a Saturday to entertain the Australians, knowing full well that the Capital City Rugby enthusiasts will turn out in large numbers to greet the visitors, if given a chance to get away from their daily occupations.

The matter has not yet been settled, but here's hoping that the Vancouver Union reverses its selection of dates, giving Victoria a week-end match. Amateur Union Clearing Up Trouble.

The action of the Amateur Athletic Union officers, in arranging a conference with the Swimming Association executive with a view to affiliating will be good news to those who are interested in aquatic sport. It is hard to understand why these bodies have not joined before, because of the fact that both are amateur in every sense. Swimming in Canada needs encouragement, such as the A. A. U. can give, while the latter union will be greatly strengthened by the added membership of the C. A. S. A. The difficulty between the James Bay Athletic Association and the C. A. S. A. will also be adjusted more easily if the two bodies are controlled by the A. A. U., and there will be no further trouble with the N. P. A. cutting into Canadian territory. The suspension of the Hastings Club, of Vancouver, will serve as a warning to those clubs who wish to tempt the amateur boxers with a few paltry dollars, and it will also put them on their guard against unscrupulous promoters. Let the A. A. U. take steps to bring Rugby under its wing, and prevent such protest as that filed against Dai Thomas, and we will be very well satisfied.

N. H. A. Due For a Blow Up.

When the National Hockey Association was organized three years ago, monied men like O'Brien and Barnett, of Renfrew, were the heads of that organization. When these gentlemen tired of professional hockey, the league slipped into the hands of promoters who were out for the money and the greenbacks only. The reduction of the teams to six men, a skimping that has not helped the game any, is but one of the modern methods introduced, but the most up-to-date of all was that installed where the tickers came through. Recent actions of N. H. A. officers show that the league is riding for a fall, and the writer will not be at all surprised if there is another hockey body in operation next season. The public is tired of the unsportsmanlike conduct of Quinn, Kennedy and Lichtenhein, who are using every method to hold players in the East and tampering with men under contract, and the reaction will be expensive for the club owners. The Easterners tried to work a clever ruse to throw the Patrick brothers off their guard. They started overtures regarding a commission, and while this was occupying the attention of the public, threw out feelers in an effort to steal some of the coast hockey stars. The P. C. H. A. forestalled this action by doing a little work on its own account, beating the N. H. A. to several stars. There is little hope for a commission, now that the Eastern clubs have displayed such poor sportsmanship, and perhaps when the Patrick brothers are preparing for a season, a year hence, they will not have to do business with such dollar-chasing moguls as now control the Eastern situation.

Investigate Fogel's Charges.

Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National League, does not agree with the contention of Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia club, that the league has no jurisdiction in the matter of investigating Fogel's alleged statements reflecting upon National League baseball. In a statement made the other day Lynch says he has been advised by John Conway Toole, retained as counsel in the inquiry into Fogel's case, that the league not only has jurisdiction, but that further if it is proven that Fogel made the assertions attributed to him he may be punished even to the extent of barring him from further participation in the National League's affairs. Fogel's case will be heard in New York on the 26th inst.

Some Nerve Has Mr. Biscuits.

J. H. Herman, manager of "Biscuits," the Polish grappler, has picked up a lot of courage since Frank Gotch has announced his retirement. He writes the sporting editor as follows:

As Zbyszko becomes the world's wrestling champion, on account of Gotch's retirement, I would deem it a great favor if you will announce through your valued columns, that the Pole, wishing his title against any legitimate challenger. All we ask of those defending a match is that they post a substantial forfeit to guarantee fulfillment of the contract. Enormous side bets and impossible purses have been demanded by former champions when desiring to avoid a dangerous opponent. Zbyszko will ask for neither, but will match at any time for a percentage of the receipts, with anyone that the press or public thinks worthy of a chance at the title.

In conclusion, I wish to state that if at any time Gotch can pick up courage enough to wrestle Zbyszko, I will cancel every engagement in order to oblige him.

Yours very truly,
J. H. HERMAN, Manager for Zbyszko.

MUST REPORT AUTO CASES IN WRITING

W. M. Wilson Objects to a Fine of $20 and is Advised It Might Be $40

W. M. Wilson was charged in the police court this morning with failing to report in writing to the proper authorities upon an automobile accident in which he was concerned recently, and in which Dr. Bryant was hurt. The accused said he had telephoned an account of the accident to the police station and thought that would be sufficient. Jaffer Brogan, reporting to the magistrate on the message received from the accused said he had asked for the number of the automobile and the accused had refused to give it to him.

Mr. Wilson said he never drove more than five or six miles an hour in the city and always slowed down at corners. He had been driving horses and motors for years. He had never noticed the number of his car and thought if he telephoned his name to the police it would be sufficient. He really did not know the law on the matter. He announced that he and Dr. Bryant had settled the matter between them, and when Magistrate Jay fined him $20, he became angry, and banging his head on the court table remarked having paid taxes for twenty years in Victoria. "That's enough Mr. Wilson," said the magistrate, "if there is any more of it I'll have to add another $20." Mr. Wilson then wrote the cheque and left the court.

A remanded case was J. McDonald, charged with stealing a diamond ring valued at $225 from Frank A. Jackson. The accused required a lawyer and his case was set over till Saturday. Louis Marshall for assault on Joseph Nugent was remanded till Saturday, and George Graham, charged in connection with the row at the Prince George hotel was again remanded. Meanwhile the man who was injured left the hospital last night and cannot be found. Owing to the fact that Mrs. Werner, who was injured by an automobile Monday night is still in the hospital the case against Ray Finlay, the driver, was remanded till Monday.

TRAVELLER HERE FROM SOUTH AFRICA

NEED OF IMMIGRATION
FELT VERY KEENLY

Johannesburg Resident Talks on Kaffir, Zulu and Boer;
Labor Conditions

Optimism for the future of South Africa was the keynote of a conversation that R. St. John Carr, of Johannesburg had with the Times this morning. Mr. Carr is very well qualified to know what he is talking about as he has been in almost every part of South Africa, and in addition served through the Boer war, being among the beleaguered at Ladysmith, and going straight from there by forced marches to the relief of Mafeking. Few regiments saw more hard service during the course of that difficult campaign than did the Imperial Light Horse, of which Mr. Carr was a member.

A shrewd observer of conditions of life in the country of his adoption Mr. Carr thinks that in the years to come, South Africa is destined to become one of the greatest countries in the world, and as a justification of this prognostication he cites its great fertility, its wonderful mineral resources, and excellent climate. The chief drawback to it appears, in the paucity of market for in many ways South Africa seems shut off from the rest of the world to a greater or less degree.

The Kaffirs.
Speaking of the Kaffirs who do much of the coolie work in South Africa, and who are employed to a large extent in the mines, Mr. Carr said, "The Kaffirs in their natural state are very capable workers, and give every satisfaction. It is when they come in contact with the white man too freely and acquire some of the rudiments of civilization that they become enervated and that their working capacities wilt and fade away."

"The Zulus, too, are a fine race of men; physically almost perfect, they are as honest as the day, and can be trusted with anything. In Johannesburg and other of the larger cities, they are employed considerably as house-boys, much as the Orientals on the Pacific coast. One peculiarity of the Zulu is that he objects to working in the winter time, and will lay off for several months in his own kraal during that period of the year."

The Dutch Element.
At the present time the Dutch element is of course the most prominent in South Africa. Very friendly relations exist to-day between Boer and Briton, and though the Union parliament is not altogether approved of by every class of people in South Africa, yet it has in the main helped to consolidate the people and to drive away that great racial hatred which existed against the Britisher immediately previous to the outbreak of hostilities in the late war.

"The Boer is naturally very conservative as well as instinctively religious; his Bible is the chief literary fount from which he draws intellectual sustenance. And yet he seldom thinks of progression. He is content to sit on his own 'stoep' and raise his stock, living in the same old way in which his fathers have lived for generations. The Boer motto seems to be 'What was good enough for my father ought to be good enough for me.'"

"The coming of the British farmer, however, has in some cases instilled into the Boer a desire to put into practice the same scientific methods which he sees operated with such good effect. Yet in the main they are satisfied with raising stock and leaving the broader fields of agriculture severely alone."

Death of Colonization.
Mr. St. John Carr intimated that what South Africa was suffering from at the present time was the death of immigration. It was one of their grievances that while both Australia and Canada have thousands of settlers passing in all the year round, yet South Africa seems to attract but a very few.

"The ostrich farms are among the best money-making propositions in South Africa, but it needs a good deal of experience before ever a man can hope to work one successfully. Some of the birds out there now are sold for £500 and more apiece."

"Another industry which is progressing rapidly in the country is fruit farming, which has been operated in Cape Colony to great advantage. The fruit is ripe just three or four weeks before Christmas, and is sent then to the London markets, where it commands a ready sale, and naturally has almost a monopoly there. Johannesburg exports a large amount of 'mealies.'"

Little Speculation.
Mr. Carr added that there was very little land speculation rife in South Africa. Immediately after the war, Johannesburg experienced a great boom, during the course of which prices of city lots ballooned, but for the rest the germ of speculation in land values has not gotten into the people and mother earth in South Africa retains still its own intrinsic value.

HARD WORK.
A very inquiring lady was on a short visit to a country district, and to her great delight she discovered a native who seemed to know all about everything in the neighborhood. He pointed out all the interesting things to her, and still her flood of questions went on. At last she noticed that the first finger of his right hand was missing. "Dear me," she exclaimed. "How did you lose your finger?" He gave a weary sigh, but pulled himself manfully together to face her new topic for questions. "It was worn away, ma'am," he replied. "Worn away," she exclaimed. "How was it worn away?" "Pointing out the scenery to tourists," was the weary reply.

MR. BRANDRITH ANSWERS CRITICS

Treatment of Victoria Schools
Exhibit From Standpoint of Commissioner

Resenting the strictures passed in a letter from the supervisor of drawing at Vancouver (W. J. Weston) on the management of the Canadian National Exhibition, the exhibition commissioner for British Columbia, W. J. Brandrith, sends the following letter to the Times on the subject of the Victoria schools exhibit at the fair in August:

"In reference to the exhibit of the Victoria schools at the Toronto exhibition, and the comments thereon made at a meeting of the school board last evening, I beg to say that from a personal knowledge of the condition of affairs at Toronto in my official capacity as commissioner for the British Columbia government that no blame can be properly attached to the exhibition management for failure to provide space.

"The entries were so numerous, that every space was utilized and the British Columbia government in view of this gave up some forty feet of its own space just to help out the management."

"It was only at the most pressing request of Dr. Orr, manager of the Toronto exhibition, that I reluctantly gave up additional space for the Victoria and Vancouver school exhibits."

"The Victoria school exhibit was shown to equal advantage with that of Vancouver, and both attracted wide and marked attention, and the general comment of the eastern teachers was that our school exhibits surpassed their own. Over 1-4 million people passed through the gates of the exhibition."

"I am convinced that the educational exhibit at Toronto by the schools of Victoria and Vancouver will prove to have been a valuable asset to the province of British Columbia."

CONVICTION CONFIRMED.

Appeal on Imperial Quart Sale at Colwood Hotel Decided Against the Licensees.

An appeal against a police court conviction for selling liquor in quantities of more than one Imperial quart, taken by Daniel Campbell, of the Colwood hotel before Mr. Justice Gregory, has been disallowed and the conviction ordered to stand. His lordship heard the application in chambers last week and remarked at the time that Mr. Campbell had been long enough in business to know the meaning of the section of the act he was convicted under. His lordship waited for some authorities to be submitted, being requested by J. A. Aikman, appearing for Mr. Campbell, to read them.

The case arose through the action of Provincial Constable Dunwoody in charging the licensee of the Colwood hotel on evidence the constable obtained personally. While in the bar he saw a man from one of the neighboring construction camps enter and obtain more than a dozen bottles of liquor. When the case was heard in the police court the magistrate found that the money, about $12, had been placed on the counter and the bartender had supplied the liquor a bottle at a time, taking after each transaction the necessary money from the little heap of bills and silver the laborer had placed on the counter. The accused held he had complied with the act and sold only a bottle at a time, but the magistrate held the sale to have been one transaction, and a breach of the statute. In this view Mr. Justice Gregory has upheld Mr. Jay. W. C. Moresby appeared for the crown.

CADET INSTRUCTION.

School Board Receives Report Dealing With the Subject.

The school board last evening determined to give further consideration to a report from the special committee appointed to consider the introduction of physical training in the schools, and to take it up at the next meeting of the board.

The report of the committee suggested that the department of education, acting for the Strathcona Trust, having trained a large number of teachers, male and female, to give instruction in accordance with the Strathcona syllabus, and having expressed the wish that teachers qualified to give such instruction should be entrusted with the physical training of their respective classes, the system should be instituted. Each teacher holding the necessary certificate of qualification will be required to conduct physical exercises as laid down in the syllabus, while the supervisor of physical training will continue the open air exercises as hitherto, provided the Strathcona rules are adhered to, paying particular attention to the qualifications of teachers who have not the qualifications for physical training. The time suggested for classroom training is seven minutes per day and for open air training twenty minutes per week per class.

Teachers on the staff qualified as cadet instructors must have first consideration to impart instruction to the pupils, and in case the proposed Boys' Central school cadet corps is formed, this first instructor will be Mr. Morrison. This is following the regulations laid down by the militia, and after the committee has had the advice of Major Snow.

The floods of the Nile are so regular in their coming that for hundreds of years they have not varied ten days in the date of their arrival.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

While Not Putting Candidates into the Field, Council Will Endorse Certain Citizens.

At a special meeting of the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening the approaching municipal election was discussed.

It was generally accepted that while the council would not actually put candidates forward, they would be prepared to endorse citizens for office, and a further report on the subject is to be made at the regular meeting next Wednesday, at which the committee will be in a position to report on the candidates who are likely to be put forward for the purposes of supporting labor principles. Two such candidates were endorsed here in January last.

PROGRESS ON SCHOOLS.

Reports From Clerks of Works Are Submitted—Progress on New High School.

The clerk of works, William Murray, reports with regard to the progress on the new High school that the work is making steady advance. Plumbing and heating are keeping pace with the construction work, and the electrician is also busy.

The clerk of works at Oaklands, reports that the work has been going on smoothly, and urges that the surface water be removed at once from the basement, as it is liable to endanger the stability of the piers. This recommendation will receive immediate attention, two-thirds of the necessary work to be done on the drainage being of a permanent character. The matter has already been taken up with the city engineering department.

REV. J. W. PEDLEY HERE.

Eloquent Congregational Divine Arrives in the City—Speaks To-night.

There arrived on this morning's boat from Vancouver an eminent divine, in the person of Rev. W. Pedley, of Toronto, for many years associated with the First Congregational church in Vancouver, and the organizer of the church there twenty-one years ago. After serving there as pastor for nine years, Mr. Pedley went to work in the eastern part of Canada, first at London and afterwards at Toronto, where he was pastor of the Western Congregational church for fourteen years. His present visit to the province is in connection with the dedicatory services of the new First Congregational church in that city.

Many years ago, when the Congregational church was being organized in this city, Rev. Mr. Pedley came over and exercised his influence in a most effective manner. It was hoped that he might consent to come over for the laying of the foundation stone of the new church, but this was found impossible. Mr. Pedley is looked upon as one of the picturesque figures in the pulpit in Canada to-day, and, while a man of unusual intellect, has a great sense of humor which has placed him in the forefront of the rank of public speakers in the Dominion. After speaking this evening at the First Congregational church he will leave once more for Vancouver, where he is due to lecture to-morrow night.

Political Equality League.—At the regular study club meeting of the Political Equality League, held last evening at the residence of Mrs. Mitchell, Vancouver street, Rev. William Stevenson was the principal speaker. His subject, "Women Past and Present," proving very engaging and interesting to the audience. Mr. Stevenson gave an instructive history of women's condition from the earliest times, beginning with the matriarchal period when the children bore the mother's instead of the father's name, and when they were the real rulers of the community. Continuing, he outlined their condition during later history, through the mediaeval times, up to the present, and concluded his address by prophesying what the women of the future would be. There was a good audience, and the talk, which was provocative of much interesting discussion, was listened to with great attention.

EXTENSION OF COAST LEAGUE TO INCLUDE ALBERTA CENTRES

Calgary and Edmonton Again Talking Pro. Hockey—P. C. H.

A. Officers Are Willing to Enlarge Circuit—New Rink Assured Calgary—Poulin Will Report in Fortnight

Plans are now under way for the extension of the Pacific Coast Hockey League to the prairie provinces next season, and a dispatch from Calgary this morning brings the information that an artificial rink is to be constructed in the Alberta metropolis, which will be linked to the coast circuit. Edmonton will be included in the Middle West wheel, and the coast clubs will play two games on their trip to these cities. By this plan the promoters hope to overcome the heavy expense of a trip across the Rockies.

Erect Artificial Rink.
A scheme is now on foot to promote a professional league this winter with teams in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg. This will be but a feeble for the organization of major hockey clubs in Calgary and Edmonton next year, and with an artificial rink in Calgary there will be no danger of poor ice in that city. Thirty thousand dollars have already been subscribed for

VISITING GERMAN.

Development League to Assist in Their Entertainment.

A meeting of the executive of the Victoria branch of the Vancouver Island Development League was held last evening in the Board of Trade rooms, and several matters which had been occupying the attention of individual members of the board came up for joint consideration. The chief item on the agenda was the consideration of Herr Weber's offer to advertise the purposes of the league and the beauties of Vancouver Island in the paper of which he is the distinguished editor.

The executive found it impossible to fall in with the noted German's suggestion, as the advertising had already been appropriated for next April and there was not enough money left over to pay for a further venture. With regard to the contemplated visit of the seventy German capitalists who are to visit next year, the league expressed its willingness to do everything in its power to assist in the entertainment when they arrive and in this to co-operate with other public bodies along those lines.

SIMON GUN-A-NOOT

Said to Be Living Among Indians on Muddy River—Mining Party Returns.

The report that Simon Gun-a-Noot, the Indian murderer, is living among the Indians on the Muddy river, about one hundred miles east of the Dease river, was brought to the city yesterday by a party who have been spending the season developing a hydraulic mining property for the Boulder Creek Mining Company in Cassiar.

In the party were Lord Beauchere, one of the owners; Warburton Pike, W. A. Casey and H. P. O'Farrell. Lord Beauchere left immediately left immediately for the east. The mine is located about four hundred miles from the coast and they made the trip by canoe and pack train. The past season has been quite successful and twenty-five men were employed.

More prospectors have been in the Dease lake and Cassiar this season than during any season since the Cassiar excitement. Many were attracted by the reports made at the close of last season of rich placers being found on the Nehalem river. Although no finds of great importance were made the explorers said there was much good ground for prospecting and it is expected that many will go in next year. With more trails it is anticipated that considerable prospecting will be carried on in this district.

Letters for publication in Daily Times must be received before 10 a. m. When received after that hour they will go over until next day.

WAKE UP, WARD THREE.

To the Editor: I see by your issue of the 11th instant that our gallant representative of Ward Three nearly lost his life while attempting to reach Oaklands. He would lose it altogether if he tried to get down Shelbourne street at night time. I challenge him to try it. The by-law for this street was passed by the council in September or October, 1910. We have paid our share of taxes and voted on money which has been thrown away, and all we get in return is our street used as a dumping ground for rock. Fancy a rockpile reaching from Bay street to Hamilton street without a break and in places twenty-five feet high, in front of Aldermen Gleason or Stewart's house for years. No sidewalk, and having to wade through water and mud over your boot tops to get to your house and then carting all the mud indoors. Ratepayers of Ward Three, wake up at the next election.

WOMAN ESCAPES DREADFUL OPERATION

How She Was Saved From Surgeon's Knife by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mogadore, Ohio.—"The first two years I was married I suffered so much from female troubles and bearing down pains that I could not stand on my feet long enough to do my work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation, but my husband wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound first. I took three bottles and it made me well and strong and I avoided a dreadful operation. I now have two fine healthy children, and I cannot say too much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. LEE MANGES, R. F. D. 10, Mogadore, Ohio.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

A young girl bred in a small, suburban village, recently married a man from a large city and came to his home to live.

Of course, there were many things in the new environment which surprised and interested her, and it was a pleasure to hear her naive comments, but the one comment which interested me far above all the others was this: "The women that I have met here are all says talking about how to keep one's husband faithful, as if that were the chief problem a woman had to worry about. Why, in my home a woman's chief problems were finances and children and making a comfortable home, and things like that. The women in our town were true to their husbands and expected as much of them. There were one or two men that people said went around with other women, but that was considered a terrible disgrace. We never expected it to happen right in our own families the way you do here."

Seems to me that the little country mouse has struck a note that needed to be sounded. In the last ten or fifteen years women's eyes have been opened; they have ceased to be the blind and trusting wives, mothers and sisters they used to be. And that I think, is well. But is it not possible that some of us have opened our eyes altogether too wide and are seeing a much more gloomy state of affairs than really exists?

A young married woman asserted to me that she did not believe that more than 25 per cent of married men were faithful to their wives.

What nonsense! There may be a so-called upper class of society in which that is true, but it most emphatically is not anywhere near true of the backbone of the country, the middle class, the people you and I know.

To hold one's husband's romantic love, to keep him always a sweetheart, that is indeed a problem and one that few women are capable of solving.

But to keep a husband faithful! I don't think that's a problem that the average woman—or should I say the wife of the average man—needs to worry about, unless she gets into the I've-got-him-and-so-it-doesn't-matter-how-I-dress-and-act attitude.

To be sure, married life isn't all on the heights, isn't all smooth sailing, but then neither is any condition of life.

When married people aren't happy they are likely to think it is because they are married. It's more apt to be just because they are themselves and because they are living in an ordinary old world, where there is always more or less to trouble and annoy. Half the time when we think our problem is "How to be happy though married," it's simply "How to be happy though human."

Let's not make the mistake of being cynical and pessimistic about marriage and the sex relations, just because we have acquired a little knowledge. It doesn't pay.

The first trial for breach of promise was held in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

MARINE DRIVE

SCENG CO.

The usual monthly meeting of the Victoria Automobile Association was held at the club rooms, Fort street, on Tuesday last, the president, A. E. Todd, in the chair. The minutes of previous meetings were read, approved and signed.

A letter was submitted from the executive of the Victoria Citizens' Committee, asking that the Victoria Automobile Association be represented on the committee for the annual water carnival for August, 1913. After discussion it was agreed that the association should assist as requested, but only in the event of not less than thirty cars being promised by the members, so that a creditable show should be made.

A letter and catalogue of the Sooke Poultry Association show was submitted with a request that the association should do what it could to make the show a success. Hadden Gillespie being appointed to represent the Victoria Automobile Association.

A letter was submitted from Judge Irving making copious suggestions as to the benefit to be derived from the amendment of the rules of the road; and this was referred to the laws committee for consideration.

A letter was submitted from R. H. Thompson recommending an extension of the tourist permit from seven to thirty days. It was agreed that this amendment would be of the utmost benefit to the whole island as encouraging the tourist traffic, and the association in this matter. Meantime it was agreed to discharge the existing road book committee of the association and to appoint Mr. Todd to consider the matter further and if possible make a proposition to the club.

The following names were submitted for membership, and having been posted on the notice board were duly elected: Andrew Wright, 1905 St. Charles street; C. E. Bennett, Vancouver Island Automobile Co.; C. V. Clark, agent for Buick automobiles; W. E. Powell, care Thomas Plimley; E. D. Grierson, 906 Pemberton road; Mr. Jones, agent for Speedwell automobiles; Mr. Pauline, care Messrs. Moore & Pauline; W. M. Thomas, care Cadillac Garage; P. G. Cudlip, care Simon Leiser & Co.; Norman Corfield, Duncan garage; Douglas Fox, Hillbank; Duncan; A. H. Mitchell, 724 Fort street; and C. A. Forsythe, 317 Central building.

The chairman pointed out that the government was at present compiling estimates for next year's expenditure on roads, and Messrs. Rick, Moody, Todd and Forsythe were appointed to make up a list of about six roads which they would most strongly request should have favorable consideration. It was agreed that the club should offer $25 for information which might lead to the recovery of any car (belonging to a member) which might be stolen, and a reward of $50 which would enable the owner to secure conviction against the thief.

Permission was given for the Dealers' Association to use the club rooms for their business meetings.

A copy of the notice calling a meeting was laid on the table, and the chairman laid before the meeting the resolution embodied therein, dispensing with the office of honorary secretary-treasurer. This was passed. On motion of Mr. Moody, Mr. C. A. Forsythe was appointed secretary-treasurer of the association.

The chairman intimated that the next monthly meeting of the club was to take the form of a luncheon costing about seventy-five cents per head, the secretary-treasurer being instructed to make the necessary arrangements and to send out a post card to the members in order to ascertain the exact numbers who would be present.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

Selling automobiles is like any other line of merchandising. A good salesman can sell a car if he has confidence in that car, and if he is backed up by the factory. He must have an adequate advertising campaign also to assist him, so that prospects may be brought to the salesrooms of his company, where it is up to him to do the rest.

The successful automobile dealer is the one who co-ordinates his salesmanship and advertising. The automobile merchant is taking money because he pays the proper attention to all the angles of his business, especially to advertising. This is really an essential element for it is one in which a great deal of money can easily be wasted without adequate returns, thus making the dealer discouraged.

To advertise properly, the first essential is to give advertising attention. It must not be done mechanically. The automobile dealer must not try and pass off the spending of money to the automobile factory, he must delegate to himself or one of his salesmen this important part of his business. There is not a concern that has not somebody in its force who is partial to advertising and only needs a little encouragement to show it. Once you get this man interested he will be able to write an intelligent advertisement. He will be able to put that newspaper human interest in his advertisements the same as a reporter puts in his story. He will localize his advertising. He will make it pull business.

IN USING BRAKES.

"When you start down grade instead of throwing on your brakes and impeding the speed of the car at the expense of brake wear, a much better way is to let your engine act as your deterrent. Throw off your switch and let the engine run. Its compression checking the car's speed. If this does not slow your car down sufficiently throw your clutch into slow speed. Before throwing on the switch after reaching the bottom of the hill, however, be sure your gas is shut off or you will blow out the muffler of your car. By leaving the gas on while running your engine compression as a brake the engine will be cooled. The cold air rushing through it without an explosion taking place will reduce its temperature rapidly."

CZAR INTERESTED.

Baron Frederichs, general aide-de-camp of the Czar of Russia and president of the Imperial Automobile Club of Russia, has written a letter of invitation to American Ambassador Curtis Guild to attend a great international automobile exhibition at St. Petersburg in the spring of 1913. The Russian club is now organizing for 1913 and the plans for the new show are being made. In his letter the aide-de-camp shows the attitude of the Czar towards the motor car, as follows:

"His Majesty, the Emperor, in view of the increasing interest in automobiles in our country and on account of the important role which the automobile is called upon to play from the industrial, agricultural and public service points of view, has deigned to grant to this exhibition his high patronage. The necessary steps to attract exhibitors from different countries have already been taken by the Imperial Automobile Club of Russia.

MOTORCYCLES AND ELECTIONS.

Just about the time the polls closed on the evening of Tuesday, November 5, the American people began demanding to know the results of the election. Wilson, Taft or Roosevelt? Which?

From one end of the country to the other, fast, alert motorcycle riders assisted in giving the people a prompt answer to their questions. Motorcycle clubs were called on for riders who assisted in bringing in election returns on the night of November 5. Newspapers everywhere had built up in the machinery for gathering facts and figures of the election at top speed—as well as for handling them when they reached the newspaper offices, so that the public might have information "right off the bat."

Voting places are widely scattered and it has always been a problem to get returns to a newspaper office at the earliest possible moment. Some method of transportation—fast and reliable—had to be devised for the messengers stationed by newspapers at each polling place.

Here—where the motorcycles made good again.

A motorcycle rider went on duty at each polling place and just the minute returns were available these riders were off at top speed for newspaper offices and political headquarters.

Telephones were used in sending brief information or bulletins, but the details and the figures must be carried to the newspapers "bodily."

The motorcycle covers the distance every time and played as it has in the past, an important part in the events of Tuesday, November 5.

TOUR IN COUPE.

Though any number of motorists have crossed the continent in touring cars and roadsters, it has been left to J. E. Rhodes, secretary of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association of St. Paul, and his wife, to inaugurate a transcontinental tour in a motor coupe. They arrived at San Francisco from Seattle a few days ago, having toured from their home in St. Paul to Tacoma, Wash., in a twenty-horse power coupe. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are expert drivers and throughout the long journey relieved each other at the wheel.

"Our trip was one of the most enjoyable we have ever taken," said Rhodes in telling about his experiences while on the road, "and with the exception of some bad roads in Montana our journey was over pretty fair highways throughout. From St. Paul we passed through to North Dakota, Montana, and Washington, meeting with many amusing incidents which served to break the monotony of the tour. I was surprised to see the evidences of wonderful prosperity all over the northwest."

"Before we left St. Paul we had a register built around the car's exhaust, thus enabling us to keep warm along the road. After arriving in Tacoma we shipped our car direct here. We will go south by the way of the Coast route, which, if all we have heard of this road is true, must be one of the most beautiful in the country."

TO CROSS AUSTRALIA.

Francis Birtles, the cycling and motorizing overlander, left Sydney, N.S.W., at 1.30 p. m., October 18th, for the second stage of his overland motor trip. His next terminus is Brisbane, and then he intends to go north, via the Northern Territory, returning to Sydney over the ill-fated exploration route of Burke and Wills.

A number of motorists and enthusiasts waited in Martin Place to give the overlander a send-off, but it was not until about 20 minutes to 2 o'clock that the blue-painted, 20-h. p. Flanders car swung around the corner with Birtles on board, and his brother Clive at the wheel, with a host of articles and tools, which the overlander's experience has proved to be necessary for back-country travelling.

After a stay of a few minutes to receive the good wishes of his friends, the overlander gave the word to go, and away the car careened on the long and trying journey. Time alone will tell how the car will stand the test, but Birtles said that his brother was confident of going through. Mr. G. F. Hill, of the Continental Rubber Company, accompanied the overlander part of the way, being interested in the fact that the Flanders car is equipped with Continental tires.

On his return to Sydney Mr. Hill stated that the overlander was making good progress, and that the car was going well. A series of moving pictures were taken at the start and along the road. Birtles has a cinematograph outfit on the car, and proposes to take a number of pictures during the trip. He anticipates that he will be away about twelve months. The car has a carrying capacity for 70 gallons of petrol. Birtles states that this will be his last overland trip in Australia, for on his return to Sydney he will go to the United States and tour North America and Canada.

SELF-STARTER AN ENGINE.

Few people realize that the modern automobile has to be equipped with two engines, but such is the fact. The phrase "self-starter" is on every motorist's tongue nowadays, yet very few know that the starter is itself an engine, sturdy, capable, compact and the very highest development of the automobile designer's skill.

In the old days, when every automobile driver dreaded the necessity of climbing out and cranking his motor, all his efforts served barely to turn the crank shaft over less than a full revolution. It was no wonder motors were sometimes obdurate and came in for hard names.

This is the way an official of the Haynes Automobile Company describes the work required of their self-starter:

"The Haynes starter turns the engine over from 100 to 120 revolutions a minute. A twelve-volt generator is used instead of a six-volt, as is usual. That speed insures the prompt starting of the car when the gears are shifted. The machine is ready to go at once; there is no waiting, no speeding up the motor to make sure it is going right and will pull the car. The average starting time with the aid of a Haynes electric starter is five seconds with a cold engine."

WOMAN AUTO RACER.

The automobile racing game has been invaded by a woman enthusiast, who believes that suffragist ideas should be injected into the gasoline sport as well as politics.

At the big annual Illinois state fair dirt track race meet which attracted a crowd of thirty thousand spectators and a large field of entries, Mrs. W. H. Dean, of DeKalb, Illinois, entered a Case machine and carried off the most valuable trophy hung up by the fair management.

Along with the cup went the Illinois state club championship and such cities represented as Chicago, Peoria, Bloomington, East St. Louis, Springfield and Decatur.

Mrs. Dean's car was a dark horse in the big race, but it went out in front early in the event, and was never headed, beating out several high powered cars.

Mrs. Dean will put the handsome $600 trophy on exhibition at the different auto shows this winter, and will in all probability have her racer in evidence.

NEW "BODY" IDEAS.

While successive series of cars and those which are designed as yearly models bearing the date of the year in which they are produced differ only slightly nowadays and each successive model in most cases is merely a refined edition of the previous series, there will be comparatively few really novel ideas displayed in the 1913 crop of cars. One of the marked features, however, will be some refinements and introduction of more original lines in the body designs, especially those of the enclosed type. The new limousine and laudat models are being fitted with a new type of body which is striking and distinctive.

Instead of the roof being almost flat like most of the limousine bodies, the front dips in a graceful curve several inches lower than has been the case previously and the effect is that even to the non-expert eye the body appears as something novel.

PRICE OF GASOLINE.

Because of the rapid increase in the price of gasoline since the first of the year, those engaged in the sale and use of both pleasure and commercial automobiles have sought the aid of the American government. The producers claim that there is ample reason for the increased cost, and their position is set forth, in a measure, by the following statement:

In order to understand fully the situation in this regard, it should be understood that a considerable proportion of the oil produced is not suitable for the manufacture of gasoline. The state which produces the largest number of barrels (California), with a total of 81,124,391 barrels, produces only a comparatively small amount of oil suitable for gasoline manufacture, the bulk of this oil being suitable only for fuel, road oil and asphalt production.

Dr. David T. Day, of the United States geological survey, in his report on the production of petroleum for 1911, states that while fuel oils increased, refinery oils declined. It is from the refinery oils that the gasoline production is secured.

It should also be noted that gasoline can only be secured to the extent of the small percentage which is found in the oils, and where gasoline is not found in such percentage to pay for refining, the oil cannot be used for this purpose.

While the general production of oil for 1911 increased over 1910, there is no increase perceptible in 1912 over 1911, and in all cases where increase has occurred the oil has been of such a character as to yield practically no gasoline.

In the meantime the consumption of gasoline has increased yearly between from 65 to 100 per cent. In other words, the oils from which gasoline can be drawn have not increased in quantity and it has been necessary to draw largely upon the accumulated stocks for the supply of gasoline. On account of the increased requirements for refinery oil, the price of crude oil suitable for refining purposes has risen approximately 33.3 per cent. during the last year. Not more than six months' supply of oil is in stock even

In California, where much of the oil is not suitable for gasoline manufacture, and in many cases, the supply on hand is much less.

The total production of oil for 1911 (from the report of Dr. Day) was 220,449,391 barrels, and that delivered for all purposes during 1911 was 229,567,581 barrels. While the reports for 1912 are not yet available, the record so far given shows practically no increase over 1911.

The estimated production of the automobile factories for 1912 is 300,000 cars. To this must be added the number of stationary engines, gasoline traction engines, motor boats and yachts, the production of which has increased several hundred per cent. in the last three or four years.

In other words, while the supply of oil has increased slightly, the supply of gasoline has not increased, but the demand is going up by leaps and bounds, and as a consequence this material is increasing in value.

DON'TS FOR MOTORCYCLISTS.

Don't start on a long trip without first filling up the oil and gasoline tanks.

Don't use automobile or any old oil for your motorcycle. Use only a heavy grade of oil made especially for motorcycles.

Don't forget to remove the battery plug when you stop the motor, a short circuit will soon ruin the batteries.

Don't open the cutout in the city.

Don't ride fast in the city or around sharp curves. You may not be able to stop quickly enough.

Don't race your motor on the stand, it will overheat and ruin it. Don't forget to strain the gasoline. Dirt and water will cause carburetor trouble. Don't ride your motorcycle if the tires are flat, it will cut and pinch the inner tube.

Don't neglect keeping all nuts set up tight, a loose or lost nut may cause an accident.

Don't pass a motorcyclist whose machine has broken down without offering assistance.

Don't forget to oil the chain. Its bearings need oil occasionally to keep it in good order.

Don't ride a machine whose belt slips excessively, either shorten it or apply some good belt dressing. Don't neglect or abuse your motorcycle and it will serve you as a friend.

Alco, National and Stutz Cars

THE QUALITIES OF WHICH ARE REMEMBERED LONG AFTER THE PRICE HAS BEEN FORGOTTEN

The buying of an automobile is worthier of more investigation than is usually given it—and as surely as the investigation is critical, then the better quality cars quickly show their comparative value.

The buyer of a cheap car rarely ever buys a second one of the same kind. They figure, "Once bitten, twice shy," and the second purchase, usually a good car, shows up the former cheap-skate so badly that no amount of argument would induce a return to the low grade kind, with its trouble and expensive upkeep.

Varnish No Longer Sells a Car

The wise buyer looks under the body, because he wants something in addition to paint and varnish. He will examine the frame, axles, bearings, clutch, transmission, wheels and all other vital points.

The above cars have no minor weaknesses, are exceptionally economical in tires and gasoline owing to their perfect construction and balance. Mechanically they are the simplest cars made, and while serviceability is always the first consideration in their construction, the comfort of the occupants is fully assured.

A comprehensive choice of models. Immediate delivery on National cars.

Roadster, Four, Five, Seven Passenger Cars.

THE ALCO TRUCK.

The first Alco Truck to go into use on Vancouver Island has just arrived. To the Alco belongs the world's non-stop record—a 168 hour continuous run through city streets and across country roads. For six days in midwinter a three and one-half-ton Alco ran day and night over New York pavements. On the seventh in the face of the worst blizzard of the year it headed for Philadelphia—a 20-hour fight against snow and bad roads.

The run was sanctioned by the American Automobile Association. It was started on January 16, 1911, by Fred Wagner and was checked officially by observers the association appointed. E. J. Cameron, of the city, is the Vancouver Island agent for the Alco.

"THE HOLY CITY"*CAPABLY GIVEN

BY THE CHOIR OF

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Large Number Enjoyed Artistic Treatment of Various Fine Numbers in Work

That there is a genuine love still for sacred music cannot be gainsaid by anyone who attends any of the sacred recitals which are held from time to time in the city, and the big audience which crowded the main hall and galleries of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last evening and listened with rapt attention to the performance of "The Holy City" was but a further evidence of the love which most people cherish for this form of music.

It would be impossible to give a detailed review of the splendid character of the music, which, moreover, is known to most lovers of oratorio. Suffice it to say that Mr. Longfield succeeded wonderfully in bringing out the bigger choral effects, and with such success that one might easily have imagined that a choir of twice the size was singing. Throughout there was a beautiful precision in the massed attacks, and in the unaccompanied choruses a delightful rhythm and variety of expression that could have only come after long and careful rehearsing. Among the finest of these massed choruses were "No Shadows Yonder!" given with just the right devotional feeling; the last verse of Neale's beautiful hymn, "For Thee, O Dear, Dear Country," and immediately after the short and magnificently climaxed "Thine Is the Kingdom, Forever and Ever," and finally the Alleluia chorus at the close of the work. The choir in all these showed wonderful cohesion and co-operation, and a beautiful balance which, barring a not unusual weakness in the tenors, was well-nigh above criticism.

The solo work and the various duets and quartettes were equally well sung. Mrs. Codd's beautiful rendering of "These Are They Which Came Out of Great Tribulation" will long be remembered by those who heard her, the rare clearness and purity of her notes and enunciation giving unusual beauty to a familiar air. Mrs. Jones Longfield, who has a contralto of rather unusual range and timbre, gave a particularly sympathetic rendering of "Eye Hath Not Seen," etc., a very beautiful air which might easily have been robbed of its dignity by a less finished singer. A big part was very cleverly sustained by Mr. Codd in the second part of the cantata, where his voice was heard carrying the melody both in solo and against the choir, his full, mellow bass showing to great advantage in the aria, "Thus be Lord," and "I Saw Also the Lord." Another of the soloists, Mr. Dunford, a tenor, gave a number of very pleasing exhibitions of his ability, being one of his best, although unfortunately not so long as some of the others. In this he infused sufficient of the devotional quality into his voice to make the work distinctive and individual.

In several trios, duets and quartets the audience had the opportunity of hearing, in addition to the singers already named, Miss Beek, (soprano), Miss Blakeway (contralto), and Messrs. Mogridge and Melville, tenor and bass respectively. A semi-chorus of eight voices in which all these singers appeared with the leading soloists of the evening being the unaccompanied "The Fining Pot Is For Silver," which was very beautifully rendered. The voices in each instance were very well suited for union singing, and proved a well-balanced combination.

During the interval between the first and second parts of the performance, the pastor, Rev. W. L. Clay, thanked the large audience which had gathered for the occasion, and announced that the proceeds would be devoted to purchasing new music for the choir—which was now self-supporting. His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, who kindly acted as patron, was present in person to hear the performance, the National Anthem being sung both before and after the cantata in consequence.

WORK OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY GROWS

Last Month Was Heaviest in History of the Institution—Accommodation Poor

The Children's Aid Society held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall, the president, Charles Hayward, in the chair, when a number of interesting reports were submitted. Among these was the report of the superintendent and matron of the home at the Willows, which showed that the work is steadily growing, and that there is urgent need for larger accommodation.

The past month, said the report submitted by Mr. and Mrs. Spofford, was the heaviest in the history of the institution, twenty-two children now being in the institution, eight of which had come in during the past month. The entire sleeping accommodation only admit of twenty-one children being properly cared for, and although the number had grown considerably since the institution was first opened, there was still only one bathroom and one general room where the children could play, eat, study and spend their time when they were not at school or asleep. This room measured 16x20 feet, and was barely adequate.

An outbreak of scarlet fever had occasioned great inconvenience, as the whole house had had to be fumigated, and the children removed to the summer-house. Three boys were still at the isolation hospital, and when these were brought back to the home there would be room for only one more to be admitted in an emergency.

A number of friends had sent in much appreciated gifts of money and clothing for the children during the past month, these including Mrs. R. S. Day, who had sent in numerous articles of clothing which would be of great service to the children; St. Andrew's church, which had sent a number of cakes which were much appreciated; Mrs. McPhillips and Mrs. Heyland.

The secretary, Mrs. Gordon Grant, also submitted an interesting report, showing the number and nature of the cases dealt with during October, those still under consideration being discussed by the board, and one case being recommended for hearing before the magistrate.

SCHOOL PLACES ARE*QUITE INADEQUATE

Temporary Provision Suggested at North Quadra and Moss Street Schools

A number of suggestions to relieve the pressure on the school accommodation were made at the meeting of the school board last evening.

Of the recommendations of the building and grounds committee, these to use a portion of the assembly room at the George Jay school, and of a room at the Sir James Douglas school for classes were adopted. In view of the financial considerations proposals were laid over to build the manual training rooms at the latter school, to be used for class rooms till the Hollywood school is built, and also manual training rooms at the North Quadra street site, recently purchased, till that school is erected. This last proposal is believed to be the solution of the subject so far as the Hillside school is concerned.

Supt. Paul said that at the Sir James Douglas school and at the Central schools the accommodation was all taken up. Trustee Staneland suggested that even if the board was not able to build the new school at North Quadra street this year they should instruct the architect to prepare plans for an eight-room school, so that an incoming board should not be delayed on the matter.

Trustees Riddell, Staneland and Captain McIntosh were appointed to go into the matter of more accommodation, and report on the estimate for construction in 1913, for the consideration of the next board.

Mrs. Jenkins favored the rebuilding of the Hillside avenue school with a substantial brick structure. She referred to the remarks of W. D. Caroe, F.R.S.A., the distinguished architect, that "we should build for to-morrow and not to-day," and said the time for replacing the frame buildings had come.

It was decided also to ask the minister of education to receive a deputation on the establishment of an institution for defective children, the necessity of it having arisen in local cases.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall, during a discussion on the range of temperature in school classrooms, said that the temperature of the rooms should not be kept higher than 65 degrees, and about 60 degrees was generally a good average. It was decided to take the opinion of the medical health inspector, Dr. H. J. Wasson, on the subject.

CITY CIRCULATION AGENT

Of Leading Montreal Daily Endorses GIN PILLS

I have long years of suffering from Kidney Trouble—two boxes of GIN PILLS—and it's all gone. That has been the experience of Mr. Eugene Quesnel, Chief City Circulation Agent of La Patrie, of Montreal. He describes it feelingly:

"Montreal, May 3, 1912. 'I have been suffering from Kidney Trouble for over five long years. I had also Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles, could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. One day I met one of our leading hotel-keepers, who had been cured by your famous GIN PILLS, and he advised me to try them. So I bought two boxes at my druggist's and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured.

"I can assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had only known what I knew now I would not have spent over One Hundred Dollars for nothing when two boxes of GIN PILLS cured me.

"EUGENE QUESNEL." GIN PILLS are gaining a world-wide reputation, by the way they conquer the most obstinate cases of Rheumatism and all kinds of Kidney Trouble. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. Sample free if you write National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

What promises to be a series of entertaining and popular lectures will take place in the Opera House on the 15th and 16th of November. The lecturer, Mr. R. D. Baumgardt, has selected his subjects to suit the student of literature who is anxious to know more than the average text book provides. Mr. Baumgardt has had years of close association with the libraries found in the capitals of Europe. He has an intimate knowledge with the battle fields of Napoleon's career. His knowledge as an astronomer places him in a distinct field with the scientists of the day, while he will discourse on a most fascinating theme, the subject being an illustrated epitome of the history of civilization. In this lecture Mr. Baumgardt takes you back to the savage, introduces the audience to the Greek period of humanizing influence, a visit to the museum of Alexandria, through the Dark Ages with the Moors, into the epoch of the Renaissance and the discovery of America, concluding with the influence of modern discoveries and contributions.

In this connection the following letter, received by Mr. MacKay Frapp, of Vancouver, by Mr. Dyke, will be of interest:

"Dear Mr. Dyke—Were it possible that anything I could say might be supposed capable of promoting in the slightest measure the proper appreciation of W. R. D. Baumgardt as a lecturer of unusual brilliance, I should indeed be pleased to say it. I knew Mr. Baumgardt in California and heard him upon several occasions. His illustrations are uncommonly good and are all prepared by himself. Returning from one of his journeys abroad (W. Baumgardt has visited nearly every capital in Europe) he brought back some 3,000 slides with him. It would be unfortunate if this opportunity of hearing so interesting a talker should be neglected.

"I trust your venture may prove a well deserved success.
"Sincerely yours,
"R. MacKAY FRAPP."

Joachim, Auer and Arthur Hartmann. It would be interesting to know what such master violinists as Joseph Joachim and Leopold Auer thought of Arthur Hartmann.

When Arthur Hartmann was about 15 years of age, he sought Joachim at his home in Berlin and begged to be accepted as a pupil. Joachim made an appointment to hear the young man. It was with no small amount of misgivings that young Hartmann prepared himself for this ordeal, for he had always been told to revere Joachim as "the king of violinists." He played the Hungarian Concerto, by Joachim, for the master, and at the place of the first Tutti, Joachim explained, "Colossal." When asked of what his repertoire consisted, Hartmann began to enumerate practically all the violin works. Joachim was astounded, and after convincing himself by having Arthur Hartmann play excerpts from Bach, Beethoven, Corelli and some of the modern composers, prophesied a great life for the young artist. He said: "I cannot accept you as a private pupil, and I would not think of seeing you in a class. What you need is not a teacher but life's experiences. Go—end all good fortune be with you. My advice to you is play and study your experiences."

Hartmann was overcome. He could not believe it, and begged the master not to deceive him by flattery, but to be open in his judgment. Joachim at once became indignant, demanding of Hartmann why he should not have been candid, and then forgave him his remark, realizing the great happiness of the young man to have been called a great young artist by the veteran violinist. That afternoon, when Arthur Hartmann walked out of Joachim's residence, he carried with him a photo of Joachim inscribed "To his young colleague, Arthur Hartmann."

Armed with a letter of introduction from Arthur Nikisch to Leopold Auer in St. Petersburg, Hartmann thereupon set out for the Russian city. He played to Auer, who received him with enthusiasm. Again asked by Auer as to what he plays, Hartmann replied: "I believe I may say I play everything there is to play on the violin, without any attempt at mock modesty, Honored Master," and proceeded to name about thirty concertos. Auer was amazed, and replied what Joachim had said but a few days previous: "What you need is life and not a school master." "And you mean that?" gasped Hartmann, quite overcome. "I not only mean it, but I shall convince you, young man. How long do you intend to remain in Russia?" "If you do not take me for a pupil, I shall leave for Germany tonight," replied Hartmann. "Very well, then, leave tonight, but if you have nothing to do in Germany, let me give you a few letters of introduction. One to Robert Kapama, conductor of the orchestra, and one to Sitt, his concertmeister." That night young Hartmann was on his way to Sitt, Finnish capital, to play for Kapama, who engaged him for a symphony concert, which was followed by three appearances at the popular concerts of the orchestra. This resulted in an engagement for twenty-one concerts in Finland for the following season, eighteen of which were with the various orchestras of that small, but tremendously intellectual country. Hartmann was so grateful to Auer for his generous encouragement that he requested Sitt and Kapama to let him keep Auer's letters of introduction to them. These he cherishes highly, along with a photo from Auer, inscribed, "To his young colleague and compatriot, Arthur Hartmann, in remembrance of his visit to St. Petersburg, and to Leopold Auer."

"Secret of Suzanne." A complete company of the singing stars of the Chicago Grand opera will appear here (for the only performance in Canada) on November 23, in Wolf-Ferrari's masterpiece, "The Secret of Suzanne," a distinctive, delightful, witty and most melodious work, given with all the advantages of an exceptionally fine string orchestra under Sig. Attilio Parelli, the original setting, attractive costuming and correct effects.

HAD SORE FOUR YEARS

Zam-Buk Healed It in Few Weeks.

Have you some old wound or sore which has defied all doctors' remedies? If so, you have a case for Zam-Buk! Mr. Oliver Sims, of Purvis, Man., writes: "The healing power of Zam-Buk is really wonderful! I had an old irritating sore on my forehead that had troubled me for four years. I had used all sorts of remedies, but none of them seemed able to close the sore. Zam-Buk was recommended to me, and in a marvellously short time it healed the obstinate sore perfectly. You may depend upon it that after this proof of its power we will never be without a box in the house."

As a rapid and certain healer of ulcers, abscesses, piles, inflamed places, cuts, burns, bruises, scaly sores, eczema, eruptions, cold sores, chapped hands, etc., etc., you can get nothing to equal Zam-Buk. Antiseptic, too; and immediately applied removes all danger of wound taking the wrong way. Druggists and stores everywhere at 50c. box or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap for tender skins and baby's bath. 25c. tablet all druggists and stores.

Hyman B. Adler, a metropolitan stock actor noted for his brilliant character work is seen to advantage at the Empress theatre this week in a playlet entitled "The Miser's Dream." This vehicle offers excellent scope for the talents of Mr. Adler and his company, which include Miss Daisy Stephell, formerly connected with the "Seven Days" company, and Mr. Merlin Valentine, who played in the cast of the Savage production of "The Thief." The sketch is a pretty little comedy-drama, and it is given a fine setting and presentation.

Davey, deMussy and Getsey are three young men who are getting laugh after laugh from the audiences at the Empress theatre this week. They sing, dance, burlesque and have some merry dialogue. The act is a versatile mélange of melody and comedy, and it wins a great deal of applause.

Leonard Martinek, a comedian from Europe, and his rag doll (a young woman masked in a grotesque make-up in mimicry of a rag doll), offer some striking work in their comedy, and acrobatic act. The work of the young lady who assists in the act is praiseworthy indeed.

"The American Boy" as Miss Grace Leonard is billed on the programme, does some clever song and dance work garbed as a young man. She is assisted in the presentation of the act by Frank Wilson.

Dale and Doyle, the belle and the beau, offer a vivacious singing and dancing number which includes some surprises, and it keeps the audience in laughter from the start to finish—especially at the finish. Then the chief surprise is offered.

BIRTHDAY CALENDAR

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Illness threatens you. Be sure to take the right way to keep well. Good fortune in money matters is in store for you.

Those born to-day will be natural, volatile and passionate, but superior discernment will show them the right path and their natural attractive personalities will gain them the friends necessary to success.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

Lying abed the other night, I heard voices through the wall. Some persons in the next room were talking. I caught only the sound, and could not get any least word they said.

As I lay and listened to the dull murmur, the low-booming sound, out of which the plaster and wall paper of the partition had strained all meaning, it seemed to me that of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

How little we know of what is really going on in hearts around us! They speak to us, smile at us, weep before us, yet the vital, living, vivid tragedy or comedy that is theirs, somehow only bits of it drift over to us. Once I passed a woman weeping as she walked the street. Again, going by a restaurant I heard loud shrieks of laughter within. Returning home one Sunday I heard a congregation in a strange church singing. I have been startled by quick, successive revolver shots in the night, under my window. In all these, Destiny was sweeping by. I had but known the echoes of what to others were blazing actualities.

I wonder, too, if these messages we get from Nature, messages the poets feel so keenly—Wordsworth, for instance, who speaks of the soft blue sky melting into the heart—I wonder if it is not the Voice of Spirits akin to ours, perhaps angels, perhaps the Blessed Dead, perhaps God, heard through the wall? Did Browning mean this?

"What I call God, And fools call Nature."

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WEST.

Bad Treatment of Victoria Schools' Display at Toronto Fair.

The sad story of an exhibit which was not valued at the Toronto fair, and the treatment of which will go a long way to discourage western exhibitors at the Canadian National Exhibition was unfolded by a letter read to the school board last evening from W. P. Weston, supervisor of drawing for the Vancouver school board. It appeared from his letter that if he had not taken the entry in charge, and displayed it in association with the Vancouver exhibit, the exhibit would never have been unpacked. The space, as events proved, was quite inadequate for the whole of the display to be made. According to his information, the exhibit from Moose Jaw was not shown at all. After the fair the exhibition directors would not undertake repacking and he had to make the best arrangements he could to that end.

The board passed a vote of thanks to Mr. Weston for his services, and will enter a protest with the management of the fair for the treatment accorded the exhibit.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS—PAPE'S

First Dose Pape's Cold Compound Relieves All Grippe Misery

After the very first dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" you distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

DEADLOCK IN BRITISH HOUSE

UNIONISTS DECIDE TO BLOCK ALL BUSINESS

Owing to Disorder Speaker Forced to Declare an Adjournment

London, Nov. 14.—The House of Commons was the scene to-night of a riot over Premier Asquith's proposal to rescind the action of Monday, when the Unionists carried by a majority of 22 Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment defeating the most important financial feature of the Home Rule bill.

The Unionists refused to permit the debate to go on, and the speaker was forced to adjourn the session on account of the disorder. This is an extremely rare necessity, and the situation is considered critical. The Unionists almost unanimously threaten that they will continue to make business in the House impossible unless the prime minister accepts the amendments or drops the Home Rule bill. They declare that this action is unprecedented, and will be obstructed by unprecedented measures. Their object is to force the government to resign.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Premier Asquith's speech when he introduced the bill, and has not been equalled since the fight over Gladstone's first Home Rule bill.

The ministers were taunted with such epithets as "traitors" and "apes." The substance of Mr. Asquith's motion was that the Banbury amendment be rescinded, and that the order of the House in respect to Monday's proceedings had not taken place. The effect of this would be to begin again the consideration of the bill at the clause where the Banbury amendment was offered.

Mr. Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, had the floor quickly, and inquired whether there was any precedent for the government's course and whether it would not destroy all safeguards for regularity in the House proceedings. Amid loud opposition cheering, the speaker replied that he could find no precedent for rescinding a decision of the House arrived at during the passage of a bill. Whether it would destroy the safeguards was a matter on which every member must form his own judgment.

There was a long parliamentary discussion and then Mr. Asquith said that no notice had been given of the amendment offered by Sir Frederick Banbury, and that its discussion was brief. He doubted if the members on either side had appreciated its importance. It would reduce the $30,000,000 which it was proposed to transfer to the Irish government to $12,500,000.

"If the decision reached Monday remains unrevoked," said the premier gravely, "or on reconsideration is found to be the deliberate judgment of the House, it would be impossible for the government to proceed with the bill."

"There are two reasons for this. In the first place, a mortal blow would have been struck."

Mr. Bonar Law—"Has been—"

Mr. Asquith—"at the financial arrangements of the bill. Finally, I hold that a bill passing this House should receive upon all substantial and vital points the assent of the majority of the House."

Mr. Asquith proceeded to point out that last week they had a majority of 121 on a question similar to that raised by Sir Frederick Banbury, and he argued that there were precedents for the course proposed in his motion.

Mr. Bonar Law replied that the established rule of the House was for one decision on a resolution. The government's proposal, he declared, was an affront to the House.

Captain Craig, Unionist for East Down, said: "The government's supporters are here under monstrous and degrading circumstances. A change in the government under the present conditions—if that is the ground for the government clinging to office—will have the whole-hearted support of the Unionist party."

He then moved the adjournment, which was defeated by 327 to 215. Then the storm broke. Sir Frederick Banbury moved that a decision reached could not be reversed at the same session.

"The only honorable alternatives before the government," he said, "are resignation and dissolution. All the respect which the members of the minority are treated to is to have the members of the cabinet sitting opposite them grinning like apes. The government is only a circus led by rebels. The best thing the Ulster members can do is to go home and make preparations to resist Home Rule."

Hon. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, attempted to speak. He was on his feet for several minutes. Every sentence was drowned in the Ulster shouts and derisive cries for Chancellor Lloyd George. He finally took his seat.

The attorney-general, Sir Rufus Isaacs, had the same experience.

Mr. Henry Page Croft, Unionist for Christchurch, shouted: "The name of this government stinks in the city of London." This referred to various alleged financial scandals.

The speaker finally adjourned the house for one hour. Isaacs was on his feet amid shouts of "adjoin." The feet amid shouts of "adjoin." The voice of Sir Edward Carson, who led the anti-home rulers of Ulster, arose above the din. "There will be no more business in this house," he cried.

DYSPEPSIA MADE HIM MISERABLE

Suffered Agony Until "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

Hundreds of people gladly testify to the wonderful curative powers of the famous fruit medicine, "Fruit-a-tives." To those now suffering with Indigestion, Dyspepsia or other Stomach Troubles, this letter of Mr. Stirling, of the well known real estate operator of Western Ontario, shows the way to a speedy and certain cure.

"Glencoe, Ont., Aug. 15th, 1911. "Fruit-a-tives were so beneficial to me when I suffered with distressing Dyspepsia, that I wish to inform you of their satisfactory results."

"Although I have, in past, suffered agony with Dyspepsia, I am now in perfect health. 'Fruit-a-tives' accomplished the desired result."

"N. C. STIRLING."

"Fruit-a-tives" will cure every trace of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Pain After Eating, Biliousness and Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world made of fruit juices and valuable tonics.

arisen and I adjourn the House until to-morrow."

A yell of victory burst from the Unionists. The members of the cabinet clustered on their side of the clerk's table. No one moved to leave the House.

At a cabinet meeting later it was determined to adhere to the programme.

The Times' parliamentary correspondent says that the Unionist leaders, after the adjournment of the House, held a private conference and decided that unless the government finds a parliamentary and constitutional way out of the difficulty created by its defeat on the Home Rule amendment, the opposition will refuse to permit a continuance of proceedings of the House.

It is stated that the Unionist leaders have the warmest support of their followers in this policy and in their determination to prevent any debate on the premier's motion to rescind Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment.

DIVIDED ON DIVORCE ISSUE

QUESTION CAUSES ACUTE DIVISION OF OPINION

Establishment and Non-Conformity Arrayed in Hostility—Conan Doyle's Views

London, Nov. 12.—England is dividing into two bitterly hostile camps over the report of the Royal Divorce Commission. The supporters of the minority report hold that the easier and cheaper divorce recommended by the majority will have a demoralizing effect upon the homes and the morals of the country. The supporters of the majority approve the majority provision that both sexes shall be on equal footing as regards divorce, but they insist that otherwise the grounds for divorce be not extended, and they object to the recommendation that cases be heard in camera, and the details not printed until the trials are ended. Many leaders, however, declare the majority report to be a triumph of common sense. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle says:

"The report brings hope to many who have long lost it. It adopted, it will make marriage purer and holier than ever. The minority re-states the old ecclesiastical position, which would have forbidden divorce utterly; only the crying needs of humanity were too strong for it."

Lord Robert Cecil, speaking for the advocates of the minority report, says the proposal of the majority to extend the causes for divorce would, if accepted, reduce the marriage law and the country to chaos. He declares further that no alteration in the marriage laws should be made until women have the vote.

The Liberal newspapers representing the Nonconformist thought as a rule, favor the report, while the Unionist organs, voicing the opinions of the Established church, support the minority, holding generally that the acceptance of the majority recommendations would transform England into a national Reno, and sap the foundations of society.

Sir George Lewis, the eminent solicitor, says the recommendations of the majority report are excellent, but do not go far enough.

"I agree," he says, "with the proposal to make five fresh grounds for divorce, and still more with the suggestion to reduce the period for desertion necessary for obtaining divorce from three to two years. One question should have been dealt with in a different way. I think it neither moral nor in the interests of husband, wife or children, or the state, that married persons, both guilty of misconduct, should continue to live together."

ROW OVER SUNDAY CONCERTS.

London, Nov. 13.—Following the objections of certain London clergymen to Sunday band concerts, the first of which for the winter season was given here on Sunday evening, members of the musicians' union prevented they will withdraw from Sunday school and church orchestras. The Sunday concert attracted about 2,000 people to the theatre.

Fat—"Buddy, ye can. O! asked a chap the toime, an' hegorra, he wanted to charge for tellin' he said, 'Wot if ye get me?'"

NINE DROWNED IN EASTERN LAKE

THREE LEFT TO TELL STORY OF WRECK

Disaster Fell So Suddenly That Passengers Hardly Realized Their Position

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The steamer Mayflower, which left Barry's Bay, Renfrew county, between 6 and 7 o'clock last night for Combermere, sixteen miles distant, on the Madawaska river, where she was due three hours later, foundered or was wrecked in Lake Kaministiquia, three miles from Barry's Bay, with twelve persons on board, including a crew of two and a dead body being shipped for interment at Combermere. Nine are believed to have been drowned. The body of the captain was washed ashore to-day in the narrows of the lake.

The names of those on board were: Mr. J. Hooper, Ottawa, traveller for the Consolidated Rubber Company; Mr. M. Peverly, Ottawa, traveller for the Corticelli Silk Company; Mr. George Bothwell, Ottawa, traveller for J. J. Casele Company, grocers; Mr. J. F. Imlach, Ottawa, traveller for the General Supply Co. of Canada; Mr. W. Murphy, Rockingham, Que.; Mr. De-laney, Barry's Bay; Mrs. McArthur, McArthur's Mills, near Combermere, aged 89; Mr. O'Brien, proprietor of the O'Brien House, Combermere; Mr. Roalme, Combermere; Capt. Partchler, of the Mayflower, Combermere; Mr. James Hudson, owner of the Mayflower, Barry's Bay, and Mr. Robert Paschal, Yorkton, Sask.

From the brief stories of the accident of those on board, they say the Mayflower sprang a leak soon after she left Barry's Bay. Her hold rapidly filled with water and those on board quickly realized that death was imminent. There was hardly a moment to decide on how their lives could be saved. A howling wind was sweeping down the lake, which is nearly a mile wide at the point where the boat sprang a leak.

Everything Was Dark.

All round was black. Not a light could be seen anywhere. The boat began to lurch a little, then a little more and then terribly, when the old coal-oil lamps went out by being crashed to the floor, and a few minutes later, when all was darkness, the boat keeled over broadside and sank, throwing passengers, crew and freight, of which there was a good deal aboard, and machinery into the icy waters.

The three survivors were able to discern some spars of timber floating near where they had been hurled into the water. Each tried to cheer the others with words of encouragement and half perished in water that was full of ice, and almost numbed to the point of unconsciousness, they drifted ashore more dead than alive.

Rescued Suffered Terribly.

Words, they say, could not describe those hours of suffering up to the time they were found. They were too exhausted to walk, even to get to their feet. Throughout the long, cold night, and bitter cold day, in a blinding snow-storm, they waited and prayed that help would come to them. Death seemed inevitable until at last, when hope seemed practically gone they heard the quick splash of oars and the sound of human voices, and from that moment from sheer exhaustion they remembered nothing more until they awoke in a house with kind friends around them and kind hands to attend to their wants. They are not yet beyond danger point. There is a possibility of serious consequence after such an experience in the icy waters.

The rescued are M. J. Harper, Gordon C. Peverly and J. S. Imlach. The known dead: Captain Erin Part-

"Collingwood"

According to the statement of the general manager for Vancouver Island, Mr. A. T. Goward, the company expects to have cars running on the new Saanich electric line by December 20. Now, Mr. Investor, stop for a moment and just consider what that will mean to values. In the first place, it is to be expected that in the natural course of events, prices will advance on all good suburban residential property in a short time owing to increased demand. Add to that the fact that prospective home builders will be able to ride out and back on the new street cars and you must surely see that the demand will be doubly keen.

The Right Tip is to Get In Now—Buy a Lot or Two in 'COLLINGWOOD' To-day

There is no better suburban property than "COLLINGWOOD." Look over the entire field and you will come back to this splendid subdivision because "COLLINGWOOD" is located in the very path of progressive developments and within the next few years this entire district will be admittedly one of Victoria's leading residential centres.

Here Are the "Reasons Why"

Property faces new station of Saanich Electric line, which is to be in operation about the 20th of next month.

WILLIAM OGILVIE*DIES IN WINNIPEG

Was Official in the Yukon at the Time of the Gold
Rush

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 13.—William
Ogilvie, of Ottawa, formerly commissioner of the Yukon, died in Winnipeg
General hospital at 2.13 this morning, where he had been brought from Point
Du Bois a week ago, suffering from septic poisoning.

Mr. Ogilvie was in the Yukon when gold was discovered there, and he rendered invaluable services in connection with the early administration of that territory. He was appointed on July 4, 1898, as its first commissioner or governor. He remained in that position until 1901, and did excellent work in the early and strenuous days of the gold excitement. Of late Mr. Ogilvie had been in charge of an expedition party which was looking into the feasibility of reclaiming some three million acres of land on the Saskatchewan and Nelson rivers.

SLIGHT ADVANCE ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Buying on Foreign Account
Was the Chief Feature of the Day

New York, Nov. 14.—The stock market outlook has not altered materially during the past few days, except to the extent that the short interest has expanded and quite a few weak accounts have been eliminated. Conditions still appear such as to warrant a conservative course, and judging by the action of call money rates to-day it is not improbable that the disposition to force rising tendencies in the stock market would be quickly reflected by a pronounced hardening of accounts. There was considerable buying to-day for foreign account, but the same only moderately advanced prices.

LITTLE CHANGE IN QUOTATIONS TO-DAY

Rapid Advance in Prices of Granby Shares During the Month

Victoria, Nov. 14.—Sentiment in the local stock market is of a quiet order for the time being, although it is fully evident that prices show no disposition to drag materially. Most of the list were unchanged to-day, Granby remaining at the quotations of yesterday. In view of the rapid advance of this stock, some fourteen points since the beginning of the month, some quietness is merited, and will render the issue less speculative. The floating supply of Granby is so small that orders either way effect its movement easily.

DOUKHOBORS QUARREL.

Peter Veregin Charged With Assaulting a Member of Colony.

Nelson, Nov. 14.—Peter Veregin, leader of the Doukhobors, has been summoned to appear in police court at Nelson Saturday to answer to the charge of having assaulted Jacob Puposko, a Russian living at Shore Acres. Puposko claims Veregin owes him $800 and holds an alleged acknowledgment of the debt, a document said to be signed by the Doukhobor leader. On Saturday last, the complainant declared, he went to a Doukhobor house at Shore Acres, and there asked Veregin to pay him the $800. He says that Veregin refused, hit him on the breast, and told other Doukhobors present to take the man outside and let him go. When Puposko laid the complaint several scratches on his body and his clothes were shown, it is said.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Out of consideration for the great maritime interests of the world which are expected to furnish the business for the Panama canal, the state department dispatched to-day copies of President Taft's proclamation fixing the tolls for the use of the canal to all United States embassies and legations abroad, with instructions to give it wide publicity.

KING NICHOLAS GIVES CURT REPLY

WILL NOT BE DICTATED TO BY BIG POWERS

Declines to Give Pledge Regarding Occupation of Turkish Territory

Ricka, Montenegro, Nov. 14.—King Nicholas, of Montenegro, gave a curt and pointed reply to the Austro-Hungarian minister when he made representations with reference to Montenegro's action against Alessio and the port of San Giovanni di Medua.

His Majesty admitted that he had no authority from his allies to give a definite answer on the subject, and continued: "For my part I at once emphatically reject even the suggestion that two Serb kingdoms will not be allowed to occupy Giovanni di Medua and Alessio. All the more so as at the present moment Turkey nor an autonomous Albania exists. I consequently consider the communication of the Austro-Hungarian minister null and non-existent."

King Nicholas refused to receive a written note repeating the communications. To the Italian minister who made identical representations to those of his Hun colleague, King Nicholas said: "The Italian government would be acting contrary to its usual solicitude for its most national interests if it persisted in demanding that Montenegro should eliminate from its military operations the port of San Giovanni di Medua and the city of Alessio."

"According to the understanding reported by the whole of Europe, the territorial status quo has ceased to exist, and consequently Italian engagements toward Austria in regard to the political status quo of Albania have lapsed."

NEGRO SHOT.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 14.—Frederick Neils, a negro, arrested for a double murder at McIntosh, Fla., yesterday, was shot to death by a mob to-day at Ocala.

Neils was charged with killing Miss Mary Stevenson, 18 years old, and J. B. Berges, 80 years old. Berges was killed when he attempted to save Miss Stevenson from her assailant.

CALIFORNIA FOR ROOSEVELT.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—With but one precinct missing and only nine counties remaining to be canvassed officially, California gave Roosevelt to-day a plurality over Wilson of 56. The final result remained, however, in the keeping of three populous counties which had not certified their returns.

REPLY TO CRITICISM FROM ALD. GLEASON

Trustee Staneland Withdraws Resolution After Hearing Written Explanation

The criticism of the school board by aldermen at the last meeting of the city council was not allowed to go unchallenged by the school trustees, and at the monthly meeting last evening the subject was taken up by Trustee Staneland, who intended to move a resolution on the subject, but refrained, after hearing the reading of a letter from Alderman Gleason.

The resolution to which the accompanying letter makes reference was to prevent the city building inspector from issuing permits for new schools till he had a certificate from the comptroller that the money was on hand to carry the work through. This resolution is sought to be rescinded by the city council, but has been laid over to look further into the legal aspect of the question involved.

Ald. Gleason's Letter.

Alderman Gleason wrote: "I trust that the grossly unfair and exaggerated report that appears in the Colonist of the council's proceedings will not create any misunderstanding between the board and the council."

"No caustic comment was made as the report says, neither did I suggest that the financial methods of the board were loose. I simply recited the facts that led up to the passage of the resolution referred to, prefacing my remarks by the statement that I would be the last one to hamper the board in its work, nothing being further from my desire."

"I beg to refer you to the report in the Times, which is an accurate one of what took place."

Trustee Staneland said a number of misleading statements had been made with regard to the board's finances. Reference had been made, by the alderman, to the council having to find $10,000 with great difficulty, because the board had exceeded its appropriation.

The trustee traced the case of the Bank street and Victoria West school buildings last year, $16,900 for the former, and $18,650 for additions to the latter, for which the board asked early in 1911, and had to wait till late in the year. Subsequently the ratepayers had, in voting the school loan by-law, approved of the board's action. But through delays on the part of the city the fund which should be forthcoming for expropriations of necessary land around Bank street school were not available. The by-law, which was prepared soon after they took office, had through the action of the council, not been submitted till July. Mr. Staneland also referred to the action of the council in delaying the payment of the contractors' cheque for the High School recently, when by their secretary's statement there was $67,713 to their credit from a loan. The alderman, ex-Mayor Morley, and the comptroller had persisted in stating that the rate for schools was about five mills, instead of two and three quarters whereas the recent convention had declared for a limitation of ten mills. The trustee believed that a large measure of their present difficulties about accommodation had been created by the delays of the city council. Instead of the board having to be supplied with money, there was on credit a surplus in other funds at the time referred to by the alderman.

Capt. McIntosh believed the statement of the alderman was very wide of the mark. "Apparently," he said, "he understands the financial position of the board, as well as where went the money from the northeast sewer." The trustee said the alderman had shown a desire to criticize the board since difficulties arose with himself over the construction of the George Jay school.

The board then contented themselves with receiving and filing the communication of the alderman.

DR. HASELL'S EFFORTS RECEIVE RECOGNITION

President of Island Arts and Crafts Club Gets Address From Members

An interesting ceremony took place last evening in connection with the annual general meeting of the Island Arts and Crafts Club when Miss Wyde, on behalf of the committee of the society, presented Dr. Hassell, the president, with a beautiful illuminated address testifying to their appreciation of his efforts in behalf of the society. The address, which was signed by all the members of the committee, was worded as follows:

"Victoria, B. C., November 13, 1912.

To Edward Hassell, Esq., M. R. C. S., England:

"Dear Dr. Hassell:—We, the members of the Island Arts and Crafts committee, desire to take this opportunity before retiring to place on record our high appreciation of your devotion to the interests of the club during the past year. More particularly do we wish to thank you for your work and leadership during the week devoted to the exhibition, and trust that you will continue to inspire our society with the same spirit and enthusiasm for many years to come."

"We remain, yours sincerely, Thos. Bamford, Chas. B. Daniell, Mary Daniell, Theresa V. Wyde, Josephine Croase, L. M. Mills, J. Rutherford Blakie, Margaret Kitto, J. J. Shallicross, A. Etheridge Collett."

The presentation was coupled with a vote of thanks to the president, treasurer and secretary, which were passed with much enthusiasm. Mr. Shallicross making a short speech in which he endorsed the encomiums expressed in the address, Dr. Hassell, whose appreciation was evident, thanking the committee for their kindly action.

The annual reports of the president and treasurer were submitted, and the election of officers resulted in the re-appointment (by acclamation) for the third time of Dr. Hassell, as president, vice-president, Miss Croase and Mr. Shallicross; treasurer, Mr. Daniell; secretary, J. R. Blakie (all re-elected); committee, Mrs. Daniell, and Misses Wyde, Kitto, Mills and Hendy, and Messrs. T. Bamford, Cummings and Mold.

It was announced that Mr. Bamford, who spent the past summer sketching in Great Britain, will give a paper on "A Summer Sketching Tour in the British Isles," to be read at the next meeting of the society, Wednesday, December 4. It was also announced that the Sketching Club would hold weekly sessions on every Tuesday evening throughout the ensuing winter in the Alexandra Club cafe, beginning Tuesday at 8.15 p. m. Members who intend to work will be welcome.

Before disbanding last evening, the members were served with light refreshments, during which the forthcoming year's work was freely and enthusiastically discussed, and it is quite anticipated that the season will be productive of considerable growth in the membership and interest of the society.

The other speakers include Hon. A. E. McPhillips, K. C., Beaumont Boggs, Capt. Clive Phillips Wolley, and D. H. Macdowell. Mayor Beckwith will reply to "Our Guests," and the military and naval toast is to be responded to by Capt. Waters, R. N., Col. Wadmore and Lt.-Col. Currie.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRADE RELATIONS

BETWEEN DOMINION AND SOUTH AFRICAN UNION

Johannesburg Visitor Speaks on Some Phases of Modern Progress

"The moderate men in South Africa are satisfied with the Botha administration, even though it is mainly of Dutch origin." Such is the opinion of W. E. Horter, of Johannesburg, who, with Mrs. Horter, leaves to-day for Seattle on their long route home to the business centre of South Africa. He has been in the country for some weeks visiting his brother-in-law at Duncan, and latterly has been sojourning at Cameron Lake.

As a holiday centre, and as the home of men of culture and refinement who desire to farm among favorable conditions, the visitor pointed out how desirable a district in the southern end of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Horter is in business in the South African city and says that while he takes no special interest in politics, he thinks the majority of people in the Union consider the government honest in its intentions and anxious to give a good business administration. With that end in view a new country cannot but go ahead, and through the canal, they could develop a trade which would become important and beneficial to all parties. At present the long journey by Cape Horn was a considerable drawback to the increase in trade, and the canal would enable the British Columbian lumbermen to compete in the South African markets with Norwegian merchants.

Probably, in addition to lumber, there were other products in which trade could be developed, for, after all, the bulk of South African exports were articles of great value, like gold and diamonds, and manufactured articles and raw materials were in demand. The business houses there bought chiefly through New York, and canned goods from the eastern provinces of Canada came in principally by that channel. British Columbia was such a long distance from the federated colonies that little was known of it, and the spread of knowledge through publicity organizations would be of advantage to both countries.

He thought there was a good opportunity for development of the trade between South Africa and Canada when the Panama canal was opened, especially in lumber. Timber was a very expensive item in South Africa to-day, and if the shippers from this province could only meet the dues to be levied on shipping passing through the canal, they could develop a trade which would become important and beneficial to all parties. At present the long journey by Cape Horn was a considerable drawback to the increase in trade, and the canal would enable the British Columbian lumbermen to compete in the South African markets with Norwegian merchants.

WOMAN'S HAIR REACHES TO KNEES

A Year Ago Was Threatened With Baldness. Tells How She Made Her Hair Grow.

Mrs. Esther Emery, now visiting friends in the city, is the fortunate possessor of marvellously beautiful hair, which, when loosed from its coils, falls to her knees. Moreover it is of soft, silky and fluffy texture and in color a glorious glossy gold. Yet just one year ago she was threatened with baldness. Urged to tell how she had obtained this wonderful growth in so short a time, she said: "Had anyone told me such marvellous results could be accomplished so quickly, I positively would not have believed it. Twelve months ago my hair, which then reached barely to my shoulders, was falling out at an alarming rate and growing very thin, acting like a weed and growing bald scalp in several places. It was dull and lifeless in color, turning grey in patches, and very dry and brittle. My head was covered with dandruff and itched like mad all the time. I tried fully a dozen different hair tonics but they were all the same and never did me a bit of good. One day I chanced to read in my home paper of a simple home prescription to make the hair grow that was recommended by a well known physician. It said that by taking ordinary Lavona de Composee and mixing with Bay Rum and Menthol Crystals and applying to the scalp each night with the finger tips that new hair would grow very rapidly. I decided to try it and I had my drug-gist mix 2 oz. of the Lavona de Composee with 5 oz. of Bay Rum and 1/2 dr. of Menthol Crystals, and started to use it. My hair quickly grew and started to grow. First the hair stopped falling, the itching ceased and the dandruff disappeared. Then my little hairs appeared all over my scalp. These grew and grew as though nothing would ever stop them. They are growing yet and while, of course, I have used the treatment steadily and expect to continue it, at least until my hair reaches the floor, I might have stopped and been perfectly satisfied at the end of three months. I think that any woman can get long, thick, beautiful hair by using this prescription as I have recommended it to several friends and all are delighted with the result. The prescription is very inexpensive and any druggist can fill it. Those who use it should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired."
